Ford Reports Breakthrough On Battery-Powered Autos

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. reported today it has achieved a major breakthrough by developing a new type battery which could pave the way for return of the electric-powered auto to U.S. highways.

Michael Ference Jr., Ford vice president for scientific research, said the new battery could store up to 15 times as much energy as present lead-acid storage batteries.

The firm disclosed Sept. 15 that it was working on the electric car project.

Ference said in a prepared statement that Ford Motor Co. and Ford of England have joined forces to build two prototype models of the proposed electric car.

The two companies described the new product, the first experimental model of which is being built in England now, as "a low-cost, subcompact limited performance 'city car' to carry two adults and two passengers."

The first two cars, one designed for testing in England and the other in metropolitan suburban areas of the United States, will be powered initially by lead-acid batteries, such as those now used in cars.

Ference said Ford has developed a new type sodium-sulfur battery, which is still in its early stages.

He added, "It promises to meet the over-all needs of an efficient, low-cost, compact, urban-suburban electric vehicle requiring only overnight recharging."

Ference estimated that the electric car, powered by the new

Brotherhood Meets Oct. 17

The tenth annual convention of the General Baptist Brotherhood will be held Oct. 17 in the American Legion Hall at 7 p.m.

The program includes a banquet served by the women of the Order of the Eastern Star, singing, a business session, and an address by the Rev. Arnold Prater, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Marshall, and associated with the Christian Civic Foundation of Missouri.

Born in Evanston, Ill., Prater attended George Washington University in Washington and Northeast Missouri State Teachers' College in Kirksville. He earned his bachelor of science degree at the Kirksville college. Following graduation he was a high school teacher and football coach in La Porte, Texas, and Centralia.

He has been the inspirational speaker on many occasions, among them, the South Central Jurisdictional Conference Laymen's Retreat at Palestine.

He is the author of four books: "A Model T King," "Seven Keys to a More Fruitful Ministry," "Parables from Life," and "You Can Have Joy."

A fifth book is scheduled for publication early in 1967.

The convention precedes by one day the opening of the 97th annual meeting of the General Association of General Baptists, Oct. 18-19-20 in the Armory.

Fire Causes Minor Damage

A grease fire at the Burger Chef Restaurant, Highway 61 South, this morning caused smoke damage to the inside of the building and fire damage to the roof.

Sikeston firemen had the blaze extinguished in a short time. The fire will not interrupt the operation of the business.

Bill Woods Hurt in Crash

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Bill Woods, 26, son of Mrs. Joe Barnett, Morehouse, was seriously injured in a car accident Friday near Fredericktown.

He was enroute to St. Louis in a 1966 Mustang, the vehicle skidded on highway 72, left the road, struck a tree, and was demolished.

He was transferred from the Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown, to St. Francis hospital, Cape Girardeau.

He suffered a broken right hand in three places, a broken left hand, facial bruises, and 17 stitches required to repair a cut lip.

Negroes to Help Hospital Drive

Three Sikeston men will head the drive among area Negroes for contributions to the Missouri Delta Cmmunity hospital building fund.

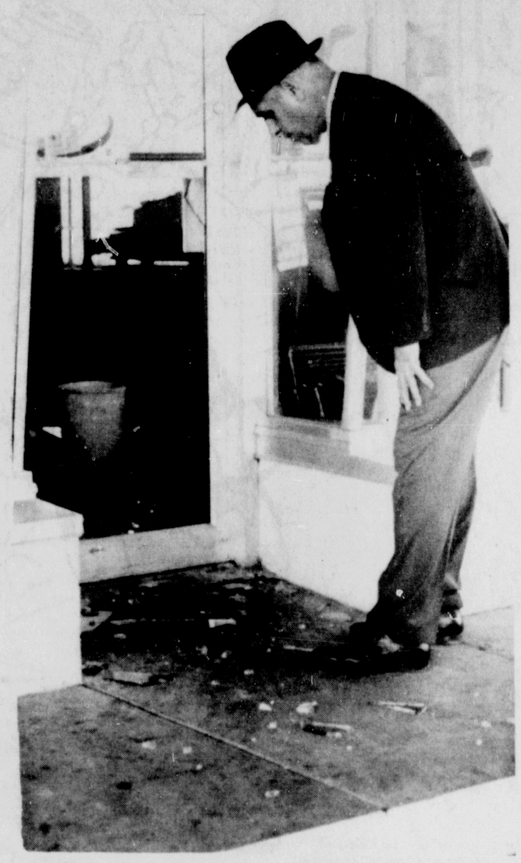

The Rev. J. W. Gwin, Ross Murray and Otis Hill, will contact Negroes in Scott, Mississippi, New Madrid and Stoddard counties.

The group received hospita campaign literature for distribution from Mayor Kendall Sikes Saturday.

Committee leaders include the Rev. C. H. Bell of New Madrid, the Rev. J. W. Johnston of Howardville, C. C. Harroway of Charleston, the Rev. Willie Madlock of Haywood City, Mrs. J. C. Pullen, Jr., of Bell City, and Mrs. Alberta Folwer, who will work in Matthews and Canalou.

Service Station at Miner Burglarized

A burglary at the new Phillips 66 service station, at the intersection of Interstate 55 and East Malone, Sunday netted the thief or thieves $30 to $40, and an undetermined amount of merchandise.

The station is leased by Bill Jenkins, and managed by Bill Barksdale, who closed the station Saturday at midnight.

When the attendant, Howard Smith, opened the station at 7 a.m. Sunday, he found front door glass had been knocked out and the station entered.

The station is at the Miner city limits. Sheriff John Dennis was called.

Barksdale found tires had been taken in addition to currency from an open cash register containing change for the next day.

The thieves ransacked the counters under the cash register, but nothing was found missing from papers thrown on the floor. Two packages of razor blades were taken from a wall from an assortment of blades hanging on cartons.

Storm Churns Coastal Waters

MIAMI, Fla. AP -- Hurricane Inez, still a killer after nine wild days over tropic seas, roared today up an Atlantic Ocean alley between the famed resort cities of Miami and Nassau.

Dead ahead of the storm lay Great Abaco Island, "the land that time forgot," and other Bahamian isles which often have heard the howl of the hurricane.

Inez had slowed to a crawl, a development that often portends a change in direction. But forecasters predicted she would continue on to north-northeast, toward islands in which many graveyards hold victims of other tropic storms.

Lashing out to east and west, Inez japped at the south Florida "Gold Coast" with gusty winds and squalls and sent a tornado spiraling into Nassau that killed a 16-month-old native child.

Great Abaco, second largest of the Bahama Islands and the home of 6,500 persons, was scheduled for a direct hit.

Although Great Abaco is largely populated by natives of African descent, it contains several white communities-settled by loyalist refugees of the American Revolutionary War—where customs have changed little since 1776.

Gale warnings came down along the southeast Florida coast, home of 2.5 million people, after an uneasy Sunday during which Inez hurled squalls into the area, whipping the palm fronds.

In Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, flood waters ran two feet deep down some streets in the city of 50,000. The twister lashed a group of shacks occupied by field hands. Three persons are missing.

Weakened and knocked out of shape by her collision with the Sierra mountains of Cuba, Inez wound up tightly again over the Atlantic.

Her top winds were raging at 80 miles an hour around the eye and were expected to reach 100 by the time she roars through the dense pine forests of Abaco late today or early tonight.

12 Injured in Traffic Accidents

Twelve persons were injured in area highway accidents over the weekend.

Four persons were injured in a two-car accident Sunday at 4:30 p.m., one mile east of Charleston on highway 60.

A 1964 Oldsmobile, driven by Lucy Adams, 58, route two, East Prairie, pulled on the highway into the side of a 1961 Chevrolet, driven by Darrell Birmingham, 22, South Bend, Ind.

Birmingham received cuts on his face and right leg, and a passenger, Marilyn Esty, 23, also of South Bend, was cut and bruised.

The driver of the Oldsmobile, was cut on her face and knee, and a passenger, Lewis Adams, 62, route two, was cut on his head. They were treated at the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston.

In a single car accident, Larry Burns, 22, route three, Charleston, was driving a 1965 Ford on route A in East Prairie Sunday at 9:25 p.m., on the wrong side of the road and struck an island on highway 105.

The car left the road, went into a ditch and overturned, resulting cuts and bruising Burns and two passengers, Paul Wilson, 19, and Roger Brooks, 18, both of East Prairie.

The three were taken to the Missouri Delta Community hospital and the driver arrested for careless and reckless driving.

Four persons were treated in the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett, for cuts and bruises in a one-car accident Sunday at 1:15 p.m. on the Airport road in Malden.

Stephen Stone, 16, Malden, driving a 1961 Renault, attempted a U turn when he lost control and the car overturned. The driver was hurt. Passengers injured were Neal Day, 15, Bruce Pickard, 16, and Freddy Lane, 16, all of Malden.

Sunday at 6:50 p.m. at the intersection of route ZZ and highway 60, four miles west of Dexter, a 1957 Ford truck, driven by George Shawn, 19, was making a left turn, when struck by a 1960 Chevrolet, driven by James Cotton, 21, Poplar Bluff.

Marilyn Cotton, 25, Poplar Bluff, a passenger, complained of a neck and back injury.

Saturday at 9:45 a.m. on route W, one mile north of Chaffee, a 1963 Rambler, driven by Carolyn Stokes, 21, Oran, slid into a 1960 Mercury, driven by Dorothy Crump, 35, route two, Chaffee, who had stopped to make a turn. Neither driver was injured.

Hattie Gale, 56, Portageville, passenger in a 1965 Ford, driven by Patricia Foster, 30, Portageville, received a possible broken rib, when the car in which she was riding collided with a 1964 Ford, driven by Albert Brewer, 32, Conran, at an unmarked intersection. She was taken to a clinic in Portageville.

A two-car collision at 4:30 p.m. Saturday at the intersection of highways 25 and 91 in Advance, resulted in the injury to Brian Lane, 5, route two, Jackson, passenger in a 1966 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Linny Busby, 29, Jackson.

The truck ran into the rear of a 1964 Chevrolet, driven by Eloise Bell, 35, Imperial. The child was treated by a physician in Advance, and Busby was given a summons for careless and imprudent driving.

Murder Charge Filed at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Charges of first degree murder have been filed against Phillip O. Clark in the slaying of an elderly woman Saturday morning.

Prosecuting Attorney Bill D. Burlison said he was not sure when Clark would be arraigned.

Clark, 23, is charged with the fatal shooting of his former wife's grandmother, Mrs. Zola Clifton, 71, at 503 North Sprigg during a night of terror in which Clark held five persons hostage at gunpoint.

Held captive were Clark's former wife, Nancy; a newsboy, David Boren, 15; Mr. and Mrs. John Seabaugh, parents of Clark's former wife, and Jerry Davis, an acquaintance of Clarks.

The captives said they were threatened, bound and subjected to near misses by bullets from Clark's pistol during the night.

The Seabaughs, Clark's former wife, and Davis escaped from the house after working their way out of cord Clark bound them with in the basement.

Boren, who came to the house Saturday morning to collect on his paper route, said Clark told him to come into the house and then held him at gunpoint. When Clark emerged from the house about 9:55 a.m., he had an arm around Boren and a pistol held at the boy's head.

At the police station Clark told a newsman that Mrs. Clifton was responsible for breaking up his marriage. Clark was reported to have been drinking heavily during the night.

Violence Hits Strike-Bound Plant

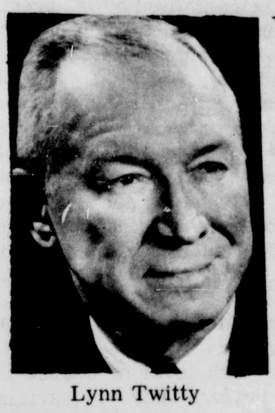

HARLAN, Iowa (AP) - Bullets and rocks flew at a strike-bound meat packing plant in this little western Iowa town early today, but Gov. Harold Hughes refused a sheriff's plea to call out the National Guard.

The violence subsided at least temporarily with arrival of a district judge at the Western Iowa Pork Co. plant.

Union leaders said they would not be responsible for anything that happened and pledged a labor march on Harlan if Guardsmen are called out.

No serious injuries were reported, but several pickets and replacement workers suffered cuts and bruises.

Virtually every window in the plant was broken by bullets or rocks late Sunday night and early today. Five trailers brought in by the company to house new employes were overturned.

Lynn Twitty

Twitty Joins Lab Board

ST. ANN - Lynn Twitty, superintendent of the Sikeston public schools, has been elected to the board of directors of the Central Midwestern Regional Educational Laboratory, Inc. according to an announcement made by Wade M. Robinson, executive director.

Twitty will be installed at the annual board of directors meeting in St. Louis Wednesday.

CEMREL, an independent not-for-profit corporation, was set up to initiate and encourage research on educational process and reduce the time between discoveries and their application to classrooms.

CEMREL serves a region of nearly ten million inhabitants in Kentucky, central and western Tennessee, eastern Missouri and southern Illinois. A central office is maintained in St. Louis with area offices in Carbondale, Ill., Bowling Green, Ky., and Memphis and Nashville.

Twitty is a member of the planning committee of the Missouri Governor's Conference on Education, the advisory council to the president of the American Association of School Administrators, and served as a member of the First Missouri Commission for Human Rights. He is vice president of the Missouri Association of School Administrators and is a member of Phi Delta Kappa, professional education fraternity.

Earthquake Rocks Southern Colorado

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) - An earthquake cracked plaster and nerves in this southern Colorado town Sunday night. Estimates of the tremor's epicenter ranged from here to Socorro, N.M., 245 miles south.

The quake measured between 4.5 and 4.75 on the Richter scale, which measures intensity.

There was no damage reported outside of Trinidad.

Vote New Two Year Contract

Local 123A of the United Shoe Workers of America AFL-CIO voted unanimously Sunday to accept a new two-year contract, which provides for a package increase of 24 cents per hour pay incrase, Henry J. Bartholomew, president of the local said today.

The union has approximately 450 members employed in the International Shoe Co. plant.

The increases called for in the contract vanes with the job classification. Fringe benefits as well as general pay increases were computed in arriving at the package increase figure, Bartholomew said.

The union meeting was held at the Odd Fellow Hall, 126A North Kingshighway.

Superintendent Forest L. Rudd said today that although he doesn't know what the company will do, he expects that it will accept the new contract after it is drawn later this week.

The old two-year union contract expired at midnight Friday. The new contract wage benefits would become effective Jan. 1, 1967. It will expire Oct. 1, 1968.

Included in the agreement reached Sunday were the following pay increases for the first year:

Piece workers will receive a 6-cent increase on the clock card hour plus a 5-cent increase to all class wages of piece workers.

In the old contract the clock card hourly rate was 14 cents. It has been increased to 20 cents.

The clock card rate is added to the class wages of the piece worker. The class wage is the amount paid per hundred units of output figured on an hourly period. Class wages vary according to the skill required for the particular job.

A 9-cent per hour increase is provided during the first year for all hourly workers.

The second year of the contract, effective Jan. 1, 1968, provides a 6-cent increase to the clock card hour for all piece workers, plus a 7-cent

TRINIDAD, Colo. (AP) - An earthquake cracked plaster and nerves in this southern Colorado town Sunday night. Estimates of the tremor's epicenter ranged from here to Socorro, N.M., 245 miles south.

The quake measured between 4.5 and 4.75 on the Richter scale, which measures intensity.

There was no damage reported outside of Trinidad.

New Minister At Morehouse

MOREHOUSE -- The new pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of Morehouse is the Rev. Herman C. Lawrence. The Rev. Service Station at Miner Burglarized

A burglary at the new Phillips 66 service station, at the intersection of Interstate 55 and East Malone, Sunday netted the thief or thieves $30 to $40, and an undetermined amount of merchandise.

The station is leased by Bill Jenkins, and managed by Bill Barksdale, who closed the station Saturday at midnight.

When the attendant, Howard Smith, opened the station at 7 a.m. Sunday, he found front door glass had been knocked out and the station entered.

The station is at the Miner city limits. Sheriff John Dennis was called.

Barksdale found tires had been taken in addition to currency from an open cash register containing change for the next day.

The thieves ransacked the counters under the cash register, but nothing was found missing from papers thrown on the floor. Two packages of razor blades were taken from a wall from an assortment of blades hanging on cartons.

Fire Causes Minor Damage

A grease fire at the Burger Chef Restaurant, Highway 61 South, this morning caused smoke damage to the inside of the building and fire damage to the roof.

Sikeston firemen had the blaze extinguished in a short time. The fire will not interrupt the operation of the business.

Bill Woods Hurt in Crash

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Bill Woods, 26, son of Mrs. Joe Barnett, Morehouse, was seriously injured in a car accident Friday near Fredericktown.

He was enroute to St. Louis in a 1966 Mustang, the vehicle skidded on highway 72, left the road, struck a tree, and was demolished.

He was transferred from the Madison County Memorial hospital, Fredericktown, to St. Francis hospital, Cape Girardeau.

He suffered a broken right hand in three places, a broken left hand, facial bruises, and 17 stitches required to repair a cut lip.

Ford Reports Breakthrough On Battery-Powered Autos

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. reported today it has achieved a major breakthrough by developing a new type battery which could pave the way for return of the electric-powered auto to U.S. highways.

Michael Ference Jr., Ford vice president for scientific research, said the new battery could store up to 15 times as much energy as present lead-acid storage batteries.

The firm disclosed Sept. 15 that it was working on the electric car project.

Ference said in a prepared statement that Ford Motor Co. and Ford of England have joined forces to build two prototype models of the proposed electric car.

The two companies described the new product, the first experimental model of which is being built in England now, as "a low-cost, subcompact limited performance 'city car' to carry two adults and two passengers."

The first two cars, one designed for testing in England and the other in metropolitan suburban areas of the United States, will be powered initially by lead-acid batteries, such as those now used in cars.

Ference said Ford has developed a new type sodium-sulfur battery, which is still in its early stages.

He added, "It promises to meet the over-all needs of an efficient, low-cost, compact, urban-suburban electric vehicle requiring only overnight recharging."

Ference estimated that the electric car, powered by the new

10 Taken to Hospital Emergency Room

Ten persons were treated in the emergency room of the Missouri Delta Community hospital Saturday and Sunday.

Marrian Jackson, Bell City, fell injuring right wrist; Janet Jackson, East Prairie, fell off bicycle and injured leg; James Lawrence, Chaffee, cut ear by object flung by mower; Jerry Landers, Canalou; injured leg when concrete fell on it; John Delk, Bertrand, cut on right leg; Marilyn Espy, South Bend, Ind., car accident; Darrell Birmingham, South Bend, Ind., car accident; Lewis Espy, South Bend, Ind., car accident; Lucy Adams, East Prairie, car accident; Donald Bauller, closed car door on left thumb.

Brotherhood Meets Oct. 17

The tenth annual convention of the General Baptist Brotherhood will be held Oct. 17 in the American Legion Hall at 7 p.m.

The program includes a banquet served by the women of the Order of the Eastern Star, singing, a business session, and an address by the Rev. Arnold Prater, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Marshall, and associated with the Christian Civic Foundation of Missouri.

Born in Evanston, Ill., Prater attended George Washington University in Washington and Northeast Missouri State Teachers' College in Kirksville. He earned his bachelor of science degree at the Kirksville college. Following graduation he was a high school teacher and football coach in La Porte, Texas, and Centralia.

He has been the inspirational speaker on many occasions, among them, the South Central Jurisdictional Conference Laymen's Retreat at Palestine.

He is the author of four books; "A Model T King," "Seven Keys to a More Fruitful Ministry," "Parables from Life," and "You Can Have Joy."

A fifth book is scheduled for publication early in 1967.

The convention precedes by one day the opening of the 97th annual meeting of the General Association of General Baptists, Oct. 18-19-20 in the Armory.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

DELTA AREA ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY CORPORATION

In an apparent attempt to freeze the present officers in office (having only ever elected a president; altho the law requires the election of one or more vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, and with other officers as may be authorized in by - laws; the non-existence of which has been admitted by the president) an ad has been inserted in newspapers which appears to be wholly misleading.

The ad, purporting to seek a staff director to replace the recently eliminated one, runs a deliberate attempt to drive away the applications of qualified persons. Qualifications of the ad requires either a Masters Degree and other experience, or a Bachelor's Degree and other experience, which is in direct conflict with the latest qualification requirements of the Home Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D. C.

The true qualifications, Memorandum No. 23-A dated August 26, 1966, are:

"The attainment of a high level of education may be important to performance in certain positions. HOWEVER, FORMAL EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS, UNLESS REQUIRED BY STATE OR LOCAL LAW (NOTE: THEY ARE NOT IN MISSOURI), SHALL NOT BE MADE A REQUIREMENT FOR EMPLOYMENT OR ADVANCEMENT IN EITHER PROFESSIONAL OR NON-PROFESSIONAL CAPACITIES IF A CANDIDATE HAS THE ABILITY TO PERFORM THE DUTIES OF THE POSITION."

Although the President admits there were never any legal by-laws ratified and adopted, he suggests that they had always acted under a set which he produced at the last meeting of the DAEOC Board on Sept. 12, 1966. These suggested by - laws contain the following provision "VII -- Other Conditions." Any directions, statutes, or administrative requirements of the United States Office of Economic Opportunity in the United States Government of the State of Missouri are hereby made a part of the by-laws of this corporation as if fully set out herein.

Any changes to such directions, statutes or requirements of any of the foregoing shall be maue a part of these by-laws, and no action by the members and directors shall be necessary to make such changes.

ANY CONFLICT BETWEEN THE PROVISISION OF THESE BY-LAWS AND PROVISIONS OF THE FOREGOING SHALL RENDER THE OFFENDING PROVISION OF THESE BY-LAWS NULL AND VOID.

A set of purported guide lines was presented to the Board and Handled as follows, according to the official minutes of the meeting on August 8, 1966:

We have to submit personnel guidelines. This will depend a whole lot on us. I am aware of the fact that some of these things may have to be changed. I am recommending that you okay these policies so that we can send them to OEO. As a general rule those guidelines were taken from a suggestive guideline that was sent to us from Jefferson City. We also took a few things from Welfare and Mineral County OEO. I recommend to board that you let us go ahead and send these as an addition to our by-laws and will be amendments.

Mr. Clevidence made a motion we send Personnel Guidelines (Tentative) to be amended by the DAEOC Board to Jefferson City.

Rev. Betts seconded motion. Motion carried.

There so - called guidelines contain the following: "Page 2, ITEM 4, NOTHING HEREIN SHALL BE CONSTRUED TO PROHIBIT A REASONABLE SUBSTITUTION OF EXPERIENCE IN LIEU OF FORMAL EDUCATION."

On the basis of the foregoing it is clear to us that someone is trying to scare away the applications of many qualified persons for the job in question and we suggest that all persons desiring to apply for the position pay no attention to the strong requirements of the ad.

We recommend that any one who thinks that they have the ability to fill one of these positions file their application by mail to save them from being insulted by the office personnel.

We also suggest you send the applications by registered mail with return receipt attached.

A BOW TO DUBLIN

Ed Begley, winner of a Hollywood Oscar for his interpretation of the sadistic town boss in the film Sweet Bird of Youth is about to reverse a trend. He will appear in a principal role in Hogan's Goat, an American success, which will open in Ireland as a feature of the Dublin Festival on Monday, Oct. 3.

The choice is appropriate. The plot of the play concerns politically-minded Irish-Americans, and Begley is cast as a devious Brooklyn mayor at the turn of the century.

"It has been a life-long dream of mine to act in Dublin," says Begley (N.Y. Times, Sept. 8, 1966). "For one thing, my parents came from Ireland. And my daughter, Maureen Kathleen, was born in Dublin two years ago." Rarely does the United States export stage stars, in part because the very star system itself makes most American names too expensive for the European stage. Perhaps not since the salad days of Tallulah Bankhead has an American of major stature appeared regularly abroad.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

National Newspaper Week is to be observed during the October period. And when, over those days, editors risk the appearance of immodesty by blowing their own horns, they have a right and an obligation to do just that.

The local newspaper provides a service that is unique, irreplaceable, and a fundamental part of our national life. Its pages tell an endless story of the events. great and small, that influence and determine the destinies of each of us. There is good news and bad--but, whatever its character, it is part of the scheme of things. Only the newspaper can adequately record it--and keep it as history in the ever-growing files of past issues.

Beyond this, there is no freedom more vital than that of freedom of the press. A good newspaper is, in a sense, a watchdog of the public. It stands for integrity and fair dealing in public and private affairs. Newspapers, on innumerable occasions, have unearthed and revealed violations of trust that would otherwise have remained forever buried. And newspapers have successfully fought for every conceivable kind of reform, often against disheartening odds, that the public interest demands.

No other nation has a press quite like ours, ranging as it does from great metropolitan dailies down to the smallest of the country weekles. Every one of our thousands of papers, each working in its own special way, is a vital part of the great edifice of freedom on which this country rests.

A dental nurse we know is used to having children ask for extracted teeth to "put under my pillow for the fairy." And so the other day, she thought she knew just how to read the mind of a small boy who had sat stoically through an extraction. She handed him his tooth. He replied: "I'm going to take it home, sprinkle sugar on it and watch it hurt."

An Old Refrain

Guest editorial -- slightly dated--which first appeared in the Rockland County Messenger of Stony Point, N.Y., in August 1866:

"The members of the (U.S.) Senate did a modest thing on Tuesday last in voting to nearly double their salaries . . . This action is peculiarly interesting in view of the recent adoption of the resolution providing for a special committee on retrenchment to cut down the expenses of the government."

The amount of money that aroused the ire and satire of the writer: $2,000 (which raised senatorial pay from $3,000 to $5,000 a year).

Things certainly have changed in a hundred years.

Or have they really?

The Lilting Whistle

THE bus was crowded with homeward-bound factory hands, office workers, clerks, and shoppers. They filled the seats and stood in the aisles, packed in against one another in a jostling mass of weariness and discontent. It showed on their snarling faces and sounded in their grumblings over business, taxes, jobs, politics, and prices. They appeared well-paid, well-fed, and well-off in every respect, yet well-nigh ruined by sheer discontent.

Suddenly, above the cheerless chatter came a whistle. It was soft and melodious, yet attracted surprising attention. There was a hush of the drone, and everyone peered to the spot from where the whistling came.

Tucked in the rear seat near the window sat a blind man. His lips moved and his head was slightly tiled. He was venting his contentment in a hushed trill.

With remarkable suddenness the faces of the passengers in the bus grew lighter, and before long cheerfulness and good humor prevailed. No one could see the joy the blind man saw, but in his quiet, unpretentious way he spread sunshine and song among his fellow men.

'LOVELY! JUST BE SURE THEY DON'T OBSCURE THE SIGNS'

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK A) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of the boons to mankind that Marco Polo brought back to Italy from China was macaroni. Last year U.S. families ate 1,751,404,809 pounds of macaroni products.

Many dogs seem to like the flavor of mailmen. They bite about 7,000 a year, and this costs Uncle Sam a million bucks in sick leave and medical expenses.

If you think highways are crowded now, here's a forecast to mull over: Beginning in 1970, the annual crop of boys and girls who become old enough to drive will exceed four million.

Sweet courtship: In Honduras, an Indian lad proposes marriage by offering his girl a gift of cocoa beans. If she accepts, they serve chocolate at the wed-

Psychologists say that up to five million Americans - one out of every 40 persons - have tried to take their lives at least once. But obviously most of them didn't try very hard.

War is still a young man's game - and particularly jungle warfare. The average age of combat soldiers in many U.S. units in Viet Nam is only 18 1/2.

Quotable notables: "Fear has always seemed to me to be the worst stumbling block which anyone has to face. It is the great crippler. My childhood and early youth were one long battle against fear" - Eleanor Roosevelt.

Political payoff: Members of the Greek Parliament have the use of two telephones each without charges. So, to win good will and votes, they usually install one of the telephones in their home district and let constituents make free phone calls to relatives all over Greece. Wouldn't that work wonders for a U. S. politician!

Tea, not coffee, is the most popular beverage in the world. Americans alone drink 31 billion cups a year.

The good old days: Doctors sometimes put the letters "PP" on a prescription. It was their way of letting the pharmacist know the patient was a "poor person," and should be charged accordingly.

Folk lore: It's bad luck to carry a hoe into the house. You'll have a bad accident if you put both sock and shoe on one foot before putting a sock on the other foot. The first dream you have while sleeping under a new blanket or quilt will come true. Munching caraway or dill seeds will keep you from having hic-cups in church.

Insect hercules: For its size, the ant is the world's strongest creature; it can lift 50 times its own weight. If your 125-pound wife were that muscular, she could carry home more than three tons of groceries at a time from the supermarket.

It was George Bernard Shaw who observed, "Except during the nine months before he draws his first breath, no man manages his affairs as well as a tree does."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note -- Drew Pearson writes the following column on current racial problems from his background as organizer of America's Conscience Fund which rebuilt bombed-out schools and churches in the south.)

WASHINGTON -- Eight years ago this week, the people of Clinton, Tenn., were awakened at 3 a.m. by a succession of dynamite blasts, to find their schoolhouse blown apart by a hate bomber.

Strong men wept as they looked down at the shattered walls, the splintered desks, the broken glass, the warped lockers in which children once put their lunch boxes.

But these men began rebuilding. And in one year, with the help of children all over the nation who contributed nickels and dimes to buy bricks to combat bombs of bigotry, a new schoolhouse was underway in Clinton. I have been there since. Hate is forgotten. White and Negro children study together side by side.

The Clinton schoolhouse, it seems to me, can be a lesson to San Francisco, Cicero, Atlanta and other cities where hate and bullets and bloodshed have torn communities asunder. These are bigger cities and their troubles have festered longer, so the rebuilding will be more complicated. But as in Clinton, Tenn., it can be done.

The problem at Clinton was complicated by fear- - fear of white bigots. R. G. Crossno, chairman of the school board and a dairyman, had his milk business boycotted. Nevertheless, he led in the decision that the school must obey court rulings.

Leading Tennessee politicians were reluctant eight years ago to serve on a committee to rebuild the school. They were fearful--fearful of white political retaliation.

KASPER vs. CARMICHAEL

The problem was also complicated by rabble - rousing John Kasper, a racial pied piper, who came to Clinton to stir up prejudice. It was he who indirectly inspired the midnight bomber.

Today the nation's no. 1 rabble- rouser is a young Jamican Negro, Stokely Carmichael, whose "Black Power" slogan has ignited black big - city crowds to demand more, and cause onetime congressional champions to vote for less.

The extremism of John Kasper and Stokely Carmichael, ten years apart, has helped touch off the troubles of 1956-58 and 1965-66.

But when you get away from these rabble - rousers, away from the uneducated and the biased of both races, you find a great reservoir of goodwill. The schoolchildren of California gave up their lunch money to help rebuild the schoolhouse in Tennessee. And I am sure the schoolchildren of Tennessee would help the children of Watts and San Francisco if the problem could be divorced from rabble - rousing and violence.

The Italian - American citizens of Cicero, Ill., spewed hatred at the Negro marchers of Dr. Martin Luther King. But the Italian - American members of congress -- every one of them -- voted for the civil rights bill and the open housing provision which the senate recently blocked.

The difference between the Italian - Americans of Cicero and the Italian - Americans in congress was one of education and understanding.

Margaret Anderson, a Tennessee schoolteacher, has written a book on the bombing and rebuilding of the Clinton schoolhouse -- "The Children of The South" -- in which she says: "The Negro child is different from other children, because he has problems that are the product of a social order not of his making . . . The road for him is three times as hard as for the average white child, even the poorest white child. At every turn there is an obstacle, and forever and ever the Negro child must ask himself why?"

It's against this background that we who have been luckier must view the riots in Watts and in San Francisco and Cleveland. It's a background 100 years in the making, which has taught the Negro child a low estimate of his possibilities, which has deadened ambition, undermined personal confidence, taught him that because of segregation he can get no further than his parents.

GOD WAITS

Last week in Washington I attended a ceremony at Howard University, largest Negro college in the western world, at which an honorary degree was conferred upon President Leopold Sedar Senghor, the African Negro poet who has become President of Senegal.

It was an inspiring ceremony. Two hundred American Negro faculty members sat in the auditorium, in caps and gowns, all doctors of philosophy, medicine or holding other academic degrees. On the platform were scholarly President Stanton Wormley and Spottswood Robinson, a Negro judge, whose ability and integrity is respected by the entire federal bench.

The audience, predominantly Negro, included lawyers, doctors, men and women who had broken through segregation's barrier to fulfill ambition and hold their heads high in professional ranks. Theirs was an example which the people of Watts and San Francisco can look up to and emulate.

In the debris of the floor of the Clinton schoolhouse one day after the bombing, I picked up a book, its cover torn off by the explosion. It was a collection of the world's great literature. I skimmed through its pages to Leo Tolstoy's "God Sees The Truth But Waits."

God sees the truth but waits. That may be what impatient big-city rioters say as they hurl Molotov cocktails. But I commend to these big cities the healthy repairs of Clinton, Tenn., which eight years ago was so torn by hate and dynamite that strong men wept and some felt that reason never again would see the light of day.

Take a Look

IN the countries of Europe it is common to meet a hair merchant traveling through the countryside and making bids for the hair of women who would rather have the money than their crowning glory. One of the largest hair markets in the world is held in the Soho district of London. Dealers from many foreign countries attend this hair fair, and they can tell the quality of a girl's tresses by a quick look, or a moment's fingering.

When they strike a bargain with the owner, a local barber steps forward and crops the hair close to the nape of the neck. Sometimes it is of such beauty that as much as forty dollars a pound is paid for it.

Many folks are wondering if there is some kind of a working agreement between barkeeps, the law and lawmakers like in prohi days? Seems like a couple of beers AND a couple of pills AND a youngster may wrap his new auto around a tree or phone pole at 100 mph then the patrol can test for alka but not dope, if they could they might find out 30% of fatal drunken drivers accidents was due to a mixture of alcohol AND dope. Folks in the know say that mixture is comparable to a mixing of nitric and suphuric acid, either alone is not explosive, mix them and you have nitroglycerene.

H. L. Hunt Says

ALPACA VERSUS LIFE LINE

LIFE LINE Program #69 discusses the present inflationary trend that is destroying the value of the American dollar, thereby imposing a cruel, hidden tax on all citizens. LIFE LINE states that a tax increase is justified if necessary to halt inflation. ALPACA, presently receiving world-wide acclaim, holds that tax increases feed inflation instead of halting it.

Inflation results when there is more money and credit with which to buy, than commodities to sell, and the resulting higher prices decrease the value of the monetary unit. Keynesian economists favor managed currency, maintaining that any economic problem can be solved merely by increasing or decreasing the money supply. They contend that the imposition of higher taxes absorbs purchasing power and that deflation or lower prices will result.

ALPACA agrees that higher taxes absorb some purchasing power, but maintain that whatever beneficial effect is achieved will be more than offset by the resulting increase of the cost of doing business; in production, transportation, distribution and again higher taxes on the higher taxed product. This results in higher prices for everything, the very condition which an increase in taxes is intended to prevent.

Higher taxes lower the value of money and a given amount of money pays fewer taxes. An increase in taxes becomes a self-feeding fire increasing inflation.

Compounding the problem is the reasonable certainty that the government would promptly put any extra money collected by higher taxes back into circulation in the form of new and larger give - away programs. The best remedy for inflation is a decrease in wasteful government spending and begin operating within income, thereby setting an example for citizens to follow. HLH

(Labor Leaders Become Big Time Fixers, Operate Union Network As Base for Big Industrial, Real Estate Complex)

Washington, D.C.: - Some of these toughs and ex-pugs have enterprise. But it is not exactly free. It's expensive -- for low income unionists, menaced merchants and harassed businessmen.

These toughs are not hoodlums, though they are the men Sen. John McClellan chose as his star, if silent, witnesses in the parade of wooden-faced fixers before his ever crusading investigating committee.

This probe into alleged labor racketeering was a switch from the now almost forgotten hearings of the late fifties. One of McClellan's aides labeled this a "look into the legal looting" of unions and management.

The men involved, led by the bullying Jack McCarthy and Danny Kapilow, who was a fast - hitting pro welterweight once, in effect ran a network of vertical corporations which had mighty political and muscled protection throughout the East.

Many insiders knew of the multi-million dollar operations which involved at least one warehouse, plans for a high-rise shopping center, simultaneous control of several unions through ownership of a series of union charters, as well as operation of pension and welfare funds. Yet so powerful was McCarthy's protection, not one of the national building and construction unions dared -- or cared-- to move against him and the local unions they operated as their base of power.

Why were they permitted to run such an industrial-labor complex? Why did no one inside labor bother to go into New York and up to the 16th Floor at 400 Madison Ave. where McCarthy and an associate, Lou Basis, ran the National Consultants Associated, Ltd.? They still have one room there which is hooked up to a central switchboard ---212-421-3400.

Their operations were notorious. McCarthy, Basis and Kapilow moved in and out of other international unions not mentioned in this probe. Basis left the labor movement and became a business broker.

His colleague, McCarthy, and the latter's associates never missed an angle.

With the unions as their base, some of them set up a central purchasing outfit which sold to some of the merchants-who believed that discretion was the better part, not only of valor, but of business acumen.

The McCarthy bloc had built-in agreements. If you were a merchant or businessman, it was a good idea to take the whole service package-- window cleaning, floor waxing, some transportation, insurance and, of course, the labor relations consulting service.

If you were about to build anything, it was a good idea to have a talk with McCarthy and company. You did not have to think of it -- McCarthy did.

If you needed money, be you labor official or businessman, McCarthy and his fellows knew just where you could get the funds at a rate charitably described as usurious.

Not too long ago they ran a so-called labor newspaper and had the most convincing ways of getting ads.

But some unions fought back and the publication disappeared. These same unions -- in non-construction fields --also rebuffed the McCarthy combination efforts to seize new locals.

But where were the state and national leaders of the building and construction trade unions? Some of this operation goes back to 1954. Many an insider knew that the McCarthy tactic was to pounce on suburban businessmen who were moving to the edge of the glacier-like megalopolis. McCarthy and Kapilow's relations -- and the holding of multiple union charters-- with locals of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) have been under investigation by authorities for at least two years.

Insiders have known that the McClellan committee probers have been in New York City for some time looking into the medical and dental plans which put more gold in the combine's pockets than could get into the teeth of their combined union membership.

Furthermore, this exploitation flourishes far beyond the Hudson. Similar "legal looting" is money-sucking the economic life blood of hundreds of suburbs. So heavy is the loot in other areas, the pressure soon will geyser into a national scandal.

Records of the Labor and Justice Departments "compliance" officials are loaded with tales of terror.

When it all breaks wide open, all labor will suffer -- especially the decent men, who for the moment, are helpless.

But no one will be able to say that notice was not served on the movement by the resolute gentleman from Arkansas.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

DELTA AREA ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY CORPORATION

In an apparent attempt to freeze the present officers in office (having only ever elected a president; altho the law requires the election of one or more vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer, and with other officers as may be authorized in by - laws; the non-existence of which has been admitted by the president) an ad has been inserted in newspapers which appears to be wholly misleading.

The ad, purporting to seek a staff director to replace the recently eliminated one, runs a deliberate attempt to drive away the applications of qualified persons. Qualifications of the ad requires either a Masters Degree and other experience, or a Bachelor's Degree and other experience, which is in direct conflict with the latest qualification requirements of the Home Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D. C.

The true qualifications, Memorandum No. 23-A dated August 26, 1966, are:

"The attainment of a high level of education may be important to performance in certain positions. HOWEVER, FORMAL EDUCATIONAL QUALIFICATIONS, UNLESS REQUIRED BY STATE OR LOCAL LAW (NOTE: THEY ARE NOT IN MISSOURI), SHALL NOT BE MADE A REQUIREMENT FOR EMPLOYMENT OR ADVANCEMENT IN EITHER PROFESSIONAL OR NON-PROFESSIONAL CAPACITIES IF A CANDIDATE HAS THE ABILITY TO PERFORM THE DUTIES OF THE POSITION."

Although the President admits there were never any legal by-laws ratified and adopted, he suggests that they had always acted under a set which he produced at the last meeting of the DAEOC Board on Sept. 12, 1966. These suggested by - laws contain the following provision "VII -- Other Conditions." Any directions, statutes, or administrative requirements of the United States Office of Economic Opportunity in the United States Government of the State of Missouri are hereby made a part of the by-laws of this corporation as if fully set out herein.

Any changes to such directions, statutes or requirements of any of the foregoing shall be maue a part of these by-laws, and no action by the members and directors shall be necessary to make such changes.

ANY CONFLICT BETWEEN THE PROVISISION OF THESE BY-LAWS AND PROVISIONS OF THE FOREGOING SHALL RENDER THE OFFENDING PROVISION OF THESE BY-LAWS NULL AND VOID.

A set of purported guide lines was presented to the Board and Handled as follows, according to the official minutes of the meeting on August 8, 1966:

We have to submit personnel guidelines. This will depend a whole lot on us. I am aware of the fact that some of these things may have to be changed. I am recommending that you okay these policies so that we can send them to OEO. As a general rule those guidelines were taken from a suggestive guideline that was sent to us from Jefferson City. We also took a few things from Welfare and Mineral County OEO. I recommend to board that you let us go ahead and send these as an addition to our by-laws and will be amendments.

Mr. Clevidence made a motion we send Personnel Guidelines (Tentative) to be amended by the DAEOC Board to Jefferson City.

Rev. Betts seconded motion. Motion carried.

There so - called guidelines contain the following: "Page 2, ITEM 4, NOTHING HEREIN SHALL BE CONSTRUED TO PROHIBIT A REASONABLE SUBSTITUTION OF EXPERIENCE IN LIEU OF FORMAL EDUCATION."

On the basis of the foregoing it is clear to us that someone is trying to scare away the applications of many qualified persons for the job in question and we suggest that all persons desiring to apply for the position pay no attention to the strong requirements of the ad.

We recommend that any one who thinks that they have the ability to fill one of these positions file their application by mail to save them from being insulted bv the office personnel.

We also suggest you send the applications by registered mail with return receipt attached.

A BOW TO DUBLIN

Ed Begley, winner of a Hollywood Oscar for his interpretation of the sadistic town boss in the film Sweet Bird of Youth is about to reverse a trend. He will appear in a principal role in Hogan's Goat, an American success, which will open in Ireland as a feature of the Dublin Festival on Monday, Oct. 3.

The choice is appropriate. The plot of the play concerns politically-minded Irish-Americans, and Begley is cast as a devious Brooklyn mayor at the turn of the century.

"It has been a life-long dream of mine to act in Dublin," says Begley (N.Y. Times, Sept. 8, 1966). "For one thing, my parents came from Ireland. And my daughter, Maureen Kathleen, was born in Dublin two years ago." Rarely does the United States export stage stars, in part because the very star system itself makes most American names too expensive for the European stage. Perhaps not since the salad days of Tallulah Bankhead has an American of major stature appeared regularly abroad.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK

National Newspaper Week is to be observed during the October period. And when, over those days, editors risk the appearance of immodesty by blowing their own horns, they have a right and an obligation to do just that.

The local newspaper provides a service that is unique, irreplaceable, and a fundamental part of our national life. Its pages tell an endless story of the events. great and small, that influence and determine the destinies of each of us. There is good news and bad--but, whatever its character, it is part of the scheme of things. Only the newspaper can adequately record it--and keep it as history in the ever-growing files of past issues.

Beyond this, there is no freedom more vital than that of freedom of the press. A good newspaper is, in a sense, a watchdog of the public. It stands for integrity and fair dealing in public and private affairs. Newspapers, on innumerable occasions, have unearthed and revealed violations of trust that would otherwise have remained forever buried. And newspapers have successfully fought for every conceivable kind of reform, often against disheartening odds, that the public interest demands.

No other nation has a press quite like ours, ranging as it does from great metropolitan dailies down to the smallest of the country weekles. Every one of our thousands of papers, each working in its own special way, is a vital part of the great edifice of freedom on which this country rests.

KIDD STUFF

A dental nurse we know is used to having children ask for extracted teeth to "put under my pillow for the fairy." And so the other day, she thought she knew just how to read the mind of a small boy who had sat stoically through an extraction. She handed him his tooth. "What are you going to do with it?" she asked, winsomely (as if she thought, she didn't know.)

He replied: "I'm going to take it home, sprinkle sugar on it and watch it hurt."

An Old Refrain

Guest editorial -- slightly dated--which first appeared in the Rockland County Messenger of Stony Point, N.Y., in August 1866:

"The members of the (U.S.) Senate did a modest thing on Tuesday last in voting to nearly double their salaries . . . This action is peculiarly interesting in view of the recent adoption of the resolution providing for a special committee on retrenchment to cut down the expenses of the government."

The amount of money that aroused the ire and satire of the writer: $2,000 (which raised senatorial pay from $3,000 to $5,000 a year).

Things certainly have changed in a hundred years.

Or have they really?

The Lilting Whistle

THE bus was crowded with homeward-bound factory hands, office workers, clerks, and shoppers. They filled the seats and stood in the aisles, packed in against one another in a jostling mass of weariness and discontent. It showed on their snarling faces and sounded in their grumblings over business, taxes, jobs, politics, and prices.

They appeared well-paid, well-fed, and well-off in every respect, yet well-nigh ruined by sheer discontent.

Suddenly, above the cheerless chatter came a whistle. It was soft and melodious, yet attracted surprising attention. There was a hush of the drone, and everyone peered to the spot from where the whistling came.

Tucked in the rear seat near the window sat a blind man. His lips moved and his head was slightly tiled. He was venting his contentment in a hushed trill.

With remarkable suddenness the faces of the passengers in the bus grew lighter, and before long cheerfulness and good humor prevailed. No one could see the joy the blind man saw, but in his quiet, unpretentious way he spread sunshine and song among his fellow men.

'LOVELY! JUST BE SURE THEY DON'T OBSCURE THE SIGNS'

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK A) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

One of the boons to mankind that Marco Polo brought back to Italy from China was macaroni. Last year U.S. families ate 1,751,404,809 pounds of macaroni products.

Many dogs seem to like the flavor of mailmen. They bite about 7,000 a year, and this costs Uncle Sam a million bucks in sick leave and medical expenses.

If you think highways are crowded now, here's a forecast to mull over: Beginning in 1970, the annual crop of boys and girls who become old enough to drive will exceed four million.

Sweet courtship: In Honduras, an Indian lad proposes marriage by offering his girl a gift of cocoa beans. If she accepts, they serve chocolate at the wedding.

Psychologists say that up to five million Americans - one out of every 40 persons - have tried to take their lives at least once. But obviously most of them didn't try very hard.

War is still a young man's game - and particularly jungle warfare. The average age of combat soldiers in many U.S. units in Viet Nam is only 181/2.

Quotable notables: "Fear has always seemed to me to be the worst stumbling block which anyone has to face. It is the great crippler. My childhood and early youth were one long battle against fear" - Eleanor Roosevelt.

Political payoff: Members of the Greek Parliament have the use of two telephones each without charges. So, to win good will and votes, they usually install one of the telephones in their home district and let constituents make free phone calls to relatives all over Greece. Wouldn't that work wonders for a U. S. politician!

Tea, not coffee, is the most popular beverage in the world. Americans alone drink 31 billion cups a year.

The good old days: Doctors sometimes put the letters "PP" on a prescription. It was their way of letting the pharmacist know the patient was a "poor person," and should be charged accordingly.

Folk lore: It's bad luck to carry a hoe into the house. You'll have a bad accident if you put both sock and shoe on one foot before putting a sock on the other foot. The first dream you have while sleeping under a new blanket or quilt will come true. Munching caraway or dill seeds will keep you from having hic-cups in church.

Insect hercules: For its size, the ant is the world's strongest creature; it can lift 50 times its own weight. If your 125-pound wife were that muscular, she could carry home more than three tons of groceries at a time from the supermarket.

It was George Bernard Shaw who observed, "Except during the nine months before he draws his first breath, no man manages his affairs as well as a tree does."

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

(Editor's Note -- Drew Pearson writes the following column on current racial problems from his background as organizer of America's Conscience Fund which rebuilt bombed-out schools and churches in the south.)

WASHINGTON -- Eight years ago this week, the people of Clinton, Tenn., were awakened at 3 a.m. by a succession of dynamite blasts, to find their schoolhouse blown apart by a hate bomber.

Strong men wept as they looked down at the shattered walls, the splintered desks, the broken glass, the warped lockers in which children once put their lunch boxes.

But these men began rebuilding. And in one year, with the help of children all over the nation who contributed nickels and dimes to buy bricks to combat bombs of bigotry, a new schoolhouse was underway in Clinton. I have been there since. Hate is forgotten. White and Negro children study together side by side.

The Clinton schoolhouse, it seems to me, can be a lesson to San Francisco, Cicero, Atlanta and other cities where hate and bullets and bloodshed have torn communities asunder. These are bigger cities and their troubles have festered longer, so the rebuilding will be more complicated. But as in Clinton, Tenn., it can be done.

The problem at Clinton was complicated by fear - fear of white bigots. R. G. Crossno, chairman of the school board and a dairyman, had his milk business boycotted. Nevertheless, he led in the decision that the school must obey court rulings.

Leading Tennessee politicians were reluctant eight years ago to serve on a committee to rebuild the school. They were fearful--fearful of white political retaliation.

KASPER vs. CARMICHAEL

The problem was also complicated by rabble - rousing John Kasper, a racial pied piper, who came to Clinton to stir up prejudice. It was he who indirectly inspired the midnight bomber.

Today the nation's no. 1 rabble - rouser is a young Jamican Negro, Stokely Carmichael, whose "Black Power" slogan has ignited black big - city crowds to demand more, and cause onetime congressional champions to vote for less.

The extremism of John Kasper and Stokely Carmichael, ten years apart, has helped touch off the troubles of 1956-58 and 1965-66.

But when you get away from these rabble - rousers, away from the uneducated and the biased of both races, you find a great reservoir of goodwill. The schoolchildren of California gave up their lunch money to help rebuild the schoolhouse in Tennessee. And I am sure the schoolchildren of Tennessee would help the children of Watts and San Francisco if the problem could be divorced from rabble - rousing and violence.

The Italian - American citizens of Cicero, Ill., spewed hatred at the Negro marchers of Dr. Martin Luther King. But the Italian - American members of congress -- every one of them -- voted for the civil rights bill and the open housing provision which the senate recently blocked.

The difference between the Italian - Americans of Cicero and the Italian - Americans in congress was one of education and understanding.

Margaret Anderson, a Tennessee schoolteacher, has written a book on the bombing and rebuilding of the Clinton schoolhouse -- "The Children of The South" -- in which she says: "The Negro child is different from other children, because he has problems that are the product of a social order not of his making . . . The road for him is three times as hard as for the average white child, even the poorest white child. At every turn there is an obstacle, and forever and ever the Negro child must ask himself why?"

It's against this background that we who have been luckier must view the riots in Watts and in San Francisco and Cleveland. It's a background 100 years in the making, which has taught the Negro child a low estimate of his possibilities, which has deadened ambition, undermined personal confidence, taught him that because of segregation he can get no further than his parents.

GOD WAITS

Last week in Washington I attended a ceremony at Howard University, largest Negro college in the western world, at which an honorary degree was conferred upon President Leopold Sedar Senghor, the African Negro poet who has become President of Senegal.

It was an inspiring ceremony. Two hundred American Negro faculty members sat in the auditorium, in caps and gowns, all doctors of philosophy, medicine or holding other academic degrees. On the platform were scholarly President Stanton Wormley and Spottswood Robinson, a Negro judge, whose ability and integrity is respected by the entire federal bench.

The audience, predominantly Negro, included lawyers, doctors, men and women who had broken through segregation's barrier to fulfill ambition and hold their heads high in professional ranks. Theirs was an example which the people of Watts and San Francisco can look up to and emulate.

In the debris of the floor of the Clinton schoolhouse one day after the bombing, I picked up a book, its cover torn off by the explosion. It was a collection of the world's great literature. I skimmed through its pages to Leo Tolstoy's "God Sees The Truth But Waits."

God sees the truth but waits. That may be what impatient big-city rioters say as they hurl Molotov cocktails. But I commend to these big cities the healthy repairs of Clinton, Tenn., which eight years ago was so torn by hate and dynamite that strong men wept and some felt that reason never again would see the light of day.

Take a Look

IN the countries of Europe it is common to meet a hair merchant traveling through the countryside and making bids for the hair of women who would rather have the money than their crowning glory. One of the largest hair markets in the world is held in the Soho district of London. Dealers from many foreign countries attend this hair fair, and they can tell the quality of a girl's tresses by a quick look, or a moment's fingering.

When they strike a bargain with the owner, a local barber steps forward and crops the hair close to the nape of the neck. Sometimes it is of such beauty that as much as forty dollars a pound is paid for it.

ALPACA VERSUS LIFE LINE

LIFE LINE Program #69 discusses the present inflationary trend that is destroying the value of the American dollar, thereby imposing a cruel, hidden tax on all citizens. LIFE LINE states that a tax increase is justified if necessary to halt inflation. ALPACA, presently receiving world-wide acclaim, holds that tax increases feed inflation instead of halting it.

Inflation results when there is more money and credit with which to buy, than commodities to sell, and the resulting higher prices decrease the value of the monetary unit. Keynesian economists favor managed currency, maintaining that any economic problem can be solved merely by increasing or decreasing the money supply. They contend that the imposition of higher taxes absorbs purchasing power and that deflation or lower prices will result.

ALPACA agrees that higher taxes absorb some purchasing power, but maintain that whatever beneficial effect is achieved will be more than offset by the resulting increase of the cost of doing business; in production, transportation, distribution and again higher taxes on the higher taxed product. This results in higher prices for everything, the very condition which an increase in taxes is intended to prevent.

Higher taxes lower the value of money and a given amount of money pays fewer taxes. An increase in taxes becomes a self-feeding fire increasing inflation.

Compounding the problem is the reasonable certainty that the government would promptly put any extra money collected by higher taxes back into circulation in the form of new and larger give - away programs. The best remedy for inflation is a decrease in wasteful government spending and begin operating within income, thereby setting an example for citizens to follow. HLH

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frank Master, Jr.

Carolyn Sue Crump Is Bride Of Walter Frank Masters Jr.

CHAFFEE--In a nuptial Mass at St. Ambrose church Saturday, Sept. 24, Miss Carolyn Sue Crump became the bride of Walter Frank Masters, Jr., of Oran. Vows of the double ring ceremony, as read by the Rev. Carl Schulte of St. Vincent College, Cape Girardeau, were exchanged before the altar appointed with sprays of gladioli and glowing tapers. Nuptial selections were provided by Miss Jodie Capshaw, organist.

Miss Crump is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Crump, 603 S. Main, and Carlos Crump, 328 Cook, Chaffee, and Masters is the son of Mrs. Marie Masters, Oran, and Walter Masters, St. Louis.

The bride escorted to the altar by her uncle, Fred Lux, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., was attired in a formal-length peau de soie gown fashioned with a batteau neckline, long petal pointed sleeves, and a detachable train, which was affixed by a large bow to the Chantilly lace overlaid midriff.

The three-tiered veil of nylon illusion cascaded from a floral headpiece and she carried a white orchid atop a prayer book.

Her attendants were Miss Rebecca Campbell of St. Louis as maid of honor, Miss Pamela Lux of Chicago, and Miss Sarah Smith of Chaffee as bridesmaids.

Their red sleeveless fitted peau de soie floor-length gowns were worn with short white lace jackets with elbow-length sleeves. They wore floor length flowing veils of red tulle and each carried a single rose with a fern background laid on a walnut cross with gold inlay.

Miss Tammy Lape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lape of Cape Girardeau, was flower girl and Brad Kielhofner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kielhofner, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by Jim Robinson, Oran, as best man and Ray Klipfel, New Hamburg and Randy Masters, Oran, a brother, as groomsmen. Guests were seated by Joe Lux of Chicago, and John Edward Smith, Chaffee.

Mrs. Crump was hostess to a luncheon served at noon in the Elks Lodge Hall which was decorated with red and white streamers centered with white bells.

Those serving were Miss Sandy Lux, Chicago, and Miss Barbara Eifert, St. Louis. Mrs. John Hodge attended the guest book.

Mrs. Masters, a 1965 graduate of Chaffee high school, attended Southeast Missouri State College and is employed by Wetterau Foods, Inc., Scott City. Masters was graduated in 1962 from Oran high school, attended Southeast Missouri State College and is employed by the C & R Mfg. Co. of Chaffee.

The couple will live at 126 Elliott Ave.

Irvin chose as best man his uncle, Wayne Menease of Malden. Groomsmen were Jerry Collins of St. Louis and Jerry Richardson of Malden.

Mrs. Radar chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece pink brocade ensemble with three - quarter sleeves, enhanced by a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Irvin wore an A-line dress of navy blue with three - quarter sleeves. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered by a white cloth overlaid with pink. The four - tier, all white wedding cake was baked by Bill Pascal, and was topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom. The punch service was placed at the opposite end of the table. A huge white wedding bell was suspended from the ceiling.

Miss Natalie Stanford, Mrs. J. W. Wildner, and Mrs. Ernest Stanford, all of Jaywye, served at the reception. Beatrice White of Baderville presided at the guest book.

Mary Joyce Rader Says Vows With Thomas Irvin

RISCO -- The Pleasant View General Baptist church in Risco was beautifully decorated Saturday, Sept. 3 for the wedding of Mary Joyce Rader, daughter of Mrs. Alta Rader of Baderville, and Thomas H. Irvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loman Irvin of Malden.

The Rev. Lloyd Myers, pastor, performed the double ring service before an archway formed by graduated, greenery - entwined candelabra holding lighted tapers. Baskets of white and greenery stood on either side of the altar.

Miss Vernie DeWitt of Sikeston, organist, presented the program of pre - nuptial music, and accompanied soloist, Donna Adkinson of Sikeston, who sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Carl Jones of High Ridge, was attired in a white satin gown with fitted midriff, etching a V at the waistline, topped by white lace. The long fitted sleeves formed petal points over the wrists. Her shaped skirt of box pleats was accented with a chapel train, tipped with lace to match the bodice.

A jeweled tiara held her waist-length double veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white glamelias interspersed with ivy and pearl streamers. Her shoes were white and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The bride chose two friends, Miss Jackie Collins of St. Louis and Miss Pat Johnson of Catron, as her bridesmaids. Miss Carolyn Rader, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor. Her floorlength dress was of pink satin, featuring a rounded neckline, long sleeves, and an A-line skirt overlaid with organza. Miss Collins' dress was identically styled in ice blue and lace. Miss Johnson's dress was of aqua satin in the identical style also.

The bride's attendants carried carnation corsages attached to lace fans, each to match her dress. Their matching net headdresses were attached to spider mums.

Candlelighters were Miss Janie Gullett and Miss Marilyn Bunting, who both wore full skirted blue dresses with bustle backs, and their matching net headpieces were attached to spider mums.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Odle

Miss Sandra Appleton Is Bride of Larry Odle

MOREHOUSE--Miss Sandra Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Appleton, became the bride of Larry Odle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Odle of Chicago, in a double ring ceremony performed Sept. 16 in the Pentecostal church. The Rev. Nathaniel Lewis read the vows.

Pre-nuptial music was played by Miss Connie Nimmo, who accompanied Miss Gerealdean Goodwin as she sang "I Love You Truly," and "O Perfect Love." The church was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli.

Miss Appleton was escorted down the aisle and given in marriage by her brother, Larry Appleton. She wore a floor-length bridal gown of white acetate nylon lace over taffeta fashioned with a nylon-lace jacket with long tapered sleeves. The floor-length skirt fell into a deep front pleat with showers of lace to the side.

Her elbow-length net veil was secured by a crown of pearls. She carried a white Bible overlaid with white carnations and streamers tied in lover knots.

Miss Margaret Appleton, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor and wore a pink brocade satin ballerina-length dress with matching jacket and three quarter length sleeves. Her head piece was a short veil attached to a small crown of pearls. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

Attending the groom as best man was J. C. Odle of Portageville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Appleton wore a navy blue dress complimented by a corsage of white carnations.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was covered with a pink linen cloth overlaid with a white lace tablecloth and centered with a white two tiered wedding cake trimmed with pink roses, and a crystal punch bowl appointed each end of the table.

Miss Glenna Vent, cousin of the bride, and Miss Betty Gromer presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. Bill Chaney and Miss Bonnie Landers acted as hostesses. Miss Katheryn Rodgers was in charge of the guest book.

The couple left on a short trip to an undisclosed destination. For travel the new Mrs. Odle wore a two piece green suit with black accessories.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were from Sikeston, Gray Ridge, Lilbourn, and Portageville.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Risco high school. The groom had attended Risco and Malden schools and is now employed at the Preyer and Green Equipment Company of Malden.

The couple is living in Malden.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frank Master, Jr.

Carolyn Sue Crump Is Bride Of Walter Frank Masters Jr.

CHAFFEE--In a nuptial Mass at St. Ambrose church Saturday, Sept. 24, Miss Carolyn Sue Crump became the bride of Walter Frank Masters, Jr., of Oran. Vows of the double ring ceremony, as read by the Rev. Carl Schulte of St. Vincent College, Cape Girardeau, were exchanged before the altar appointed with sprays of gladioli and glowing tapers. Nuptial selections were provided by Miss Jodie Capshaw, organist.

Miss Crump is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Crump, 603 S. Main, and Carlos Crump, 328 Cook, Chaffee, and Masters is the son of Mrs. Marie Masters, Oran, and Walter Masters, St. Louis.

The bride escorted to the altar by her uncle, Fred Lux, Jr., of Chicago, Ill., was attired in a formal-length peau de soie gown fashioned with a batteau neckline, long petal pointed sleeves, and a detachable train, which was affixed by a large bow to the Chantilly lace overlaid midriff.

The three-tiered veil of nylon illusion cascaded from a floral headpiece and she carried a white orchid atop a prayer book.

Her attendants were Miss Rebecca Campbell of St. Louis as maid of honor, Miss Pamela Lux of Chicago, and Miss Sarah Smith of Chaffee as bridesmaids.

Their red sleeveless fitted peau de soie floor-length gowns were worn with short white lace jackets with elbow-length sleeves. They wore floor length flowing veils of red tulle and each carried a single rose with a fern background laid on a walnut cross with gold inlay.

Miss Tammy Lape, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lape of Cape Girardeau, was flower girl and Brad Kielhofner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kielhofner, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom was attended by Jim Robinson, Oran, as best man and Ray Klipfel, New Hamburg and Randy Masters, Oran, a brother, as groomsmen. Guests were seated by Joe Lux of Chicago, and John Edward Smith, Chaffee.

Mrs. Crump was hostess to a luncheon served at noon in the Elks Lodge Hall which was decorated with red and white streamers centered with white bells.

Those serving were Miss Sandy Lux, Chicago, and Miss Barbara Eifert, St. Louis. Mrs. John Hodge attended the guest book.

Mrs. Masters, a 1965 graduate of Chaffee high school, attended Southeast Missouri State College and is employed by Wetterau Foods, Inc., Scott City. Masters was graduated in 1962 from Oran high school, attended Southeast Missouri State College and is employed by the C & R Mfg. Co. of Chaffee.

The couple will live at 126 Elliott Ave.

Irvin chose as best man his uncle, Wayne Menease of Malden. Groomsmen were Jerry Collins of St. Louis and Jerry Richardson of Malden.

Mrs. Radar chose for her daughter's wedding a two-piece pink brocade ensemble with three - quarter sleeves, enhanced by a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Irvin wore an A-line dress of navy blue with three - quarter sleeves. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A reception was held at the home of the bride immediately following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered by a white cloth overlaid with pink. The four - tier, all white wedding cake was baked by Bill Pascal, and was topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom. The punch service was placed at the opposite end of the table. A huge white wedding bell was suspended from the ceiling.

Miss Natalie Stanford, Mrs. J. W. Wildner, and Mrs. Ernest Stanford, all of Jaywye, served at the reception. Beatrice White of Baderville presided at the guest book.

Mary Joyce Rader Says Vows With Thomas Irvin

RISCO -- The Pleasant View General Baptist church in Risco was beautifully decorated Saturday, Sept. 3 for the wedding of Mary Joyce Rader, daughter of Mrs. Alta Rader of Baderville, and Thomas H. Irvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loman Irvin of Malden.

The Rev. Lloyd Myers, pastor, performed the double ring service before an archway formed by graduated, greenery - entwined candelabra holding lighted tapers. Baskets of white and greenery stood on either side of the altar.

Dodgers Take NL Pennant, Series Starts Wednesday

By MURRAY CHASS

For Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers it was all downhill after the sixth inning. For the San Francisco Giants it was all down the drain after the third.

As he did on the next-to-last day of the season last year, the amazing Koufac pitched the Dodgers to the National League pennant, their second straight, scattering seven hits in a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia Sunday.

"It was all downhill for me after the sixth," the 30-year-old left-hander said amid a wild Dodger celebration after bringing his record to 27 victories, most in his career, against nine defeats.

The Giants, though, felt their hopes for a first-place tie sink in the third inning when the Dodgers exploded for three runs. Like everyone else in baseball, they knew all too well that Koufax rarely, if ever, loses with that great a lead.

They sat around at the airport in Pittsburgh, though, hoping that a rarity would occur. They had defeated the Pirates 7-3 in 11 innings and another Dodger defeat, following a 4-3 loss in the opener of the doubleheader with the Phillies would have kept them alive.

To force a playoff, they then would have to beat Cincinnati Monnday in a make-up of a rained out game.

But when Koufax arrived at the bottom of the hill, the Giants started leaving for San Francisco instead of Cincinnati.

The Phillies tried to pull it out for the Giants, rallying for three runs in the ninth inning. But Koufax had been more concerned about the first inning when they put two men on with only one out.

"I would say the biggest pitch I had to make was to strike out Richie Allen in the first when I was in trouble," Koufax said.

After fanning Allen for the first of three times, Koufax retired Harvey Kuenn on a grounder, ending the threat.

Slightly more than two hours later, Koufax fanned Jack Brandt for his 10th strikeout, and the Dodgers had their sixth pennant in Walter Alston's 13-year reign.

They also had the distinction of being the first National League team since Milwaukee in 1957 - 68 to win two straight pennants.

"There may have been some greater pitchers before I came around, but this guy is the greatest I've ever witnessed."

The Dodgers erupted against Jim Bunning for three runs in the third inning of the clincher, two of the runs coming on Willie Davis' homer. They added single runs in the fourth on John Roseboro's sacrifice fly, in the eighth on Tony Taylor's error and in the ninth on Ron Fairly's single.

The fourth - place Phillies came from behind in the opener, scoring two runs in the ninth with the help of throwing errors by Bob Miller and Dick Schofield. The tying run scored on Schofield's miscue, and the winning tally crossed as Clay Dallrymple blooped a single to center.

Ozzie Virgil's two- out, run-scoring single pulled the Giants into a 3-3 tie in the ninth, and they lodged the Pirates in third place in the 11th when Willie McCovey hit a two - run homer and Tito Fuentes added a two-run double.

Drysdale or Claude Osteen will pitch the World Series opener for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday since Sandy Koufax had to go the route Sunday in the pennant clincher over the Phillies.

"It will be Drysdale or Osteen," Manager Walter Alston said Sunday night in the chaotic Dodger clubhouse before the club flew home to get ready for the Series with the Baltimore Orioles. "Sandy probably will go in the second game."

The Series opens Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Oriole Manager Hank Bauer said he would start left Dave McNally 13-6 in the opener and follow with Jim Palmer, 15-10.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the club right now," Bauer said, "and if the Series goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

It was Sandy the dandy, the 27-game winner, who saved the day for the Dodgers Sunday after they had lost the opener to the Phillies 4-3. San Francisco already has beaten Pittsburgh.

If the Dodgers had lost the second game, the Giants could have forced a tie playoff by beating Cincinnati in a special make-up of an early season rained out game Monday. Now that game will not be played.

Alston went out to talk to Koufax when he got into trouble in the ninth inning as the Phils closed the gap to 6-3. After all, Sandy had worked nine tough innings Thursday and was coming back with only two days rest.

"He told me not to reach back for too much," said Koufax as Tommy Davis poured a full bottle of champagne over his head.

"He thought I had been going to my fast ball too much and wanted me to throw more curves. It was downhill for me after the sixth inning."

Koufax said "something popped" in his back in the fifth but trainers Bill Buhler and Wayne Anderson "popped it back" before the sixth and applied some "hot stuff" to the back. It didn't bother him any more although the ace - lefthander said it "probably would be stiff Monday."

Alston and the Dodgers flew home after the game and will take today off.

Portageville And Chaffee Win, Poplar Bluff Jumps On Jackson for 48-14 Win

Three high school football games scheduled for Friday of last week were rained out and played Saturday night.

At Poplar Bluff the Mules had little mercy on the Jackson Indians. They scored 41 point the first half and went on win 48-14.

The Mules played their entire squad in one of their biggest wins of the season.

Ed Moss opened the Mules scoring with a seven-yard run in the opening minutes of the game.

John Brown contributed a 11-yard TD midway in the first period and Ben Wyatt passed 16 yards to Steve Arant in the closing minutes for the last TD of the period.

John Piper scored twice in the second period on a six-yard run and a 65-yard gallop.

Linemen Shadrack Davis picked up an Indian fumble and ran for another Mule TD.

Ben Wyatt kicked five extra points and Bob Wyatt converted on one.

Jackson broke into the scoring column in the fourth period on two TDs by Leroy Moss.

At East Prairie the Portageville Bulldogs collected a 27-7 win over the Eagles.

The Dogs scored in the first quarter on a six-yard run by Perry Gooch, but the Eagles counteracted with a two yard run in the second period and went ahead 7-6 on Bruce Banks extra point and the TD.

Bill Allen scored on a one yard plunge for Portageville just before the half and held a 13-7 lead.

Both teams went scoreless in the third period, but Portageville broke the game open with a safety and two TDs in the fourth period. Gooch and Terry Freeland collected the Bulldogs final TDs.

In the other rained out game that was played Saturday night Chaffee defeated Scott City 20-6.

Cards Beat Eagles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The delayed take-off isn't part of Charlie Winner's game plan, but his St. Louis Cardinals are making the most of their 30-minute flights.

St. Louis struck for 24 points in the second half Sunday and continued its National Football League resurgence under new coach Winner with a 41-10 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

It was the fourth victory without a loss for the Cards, who lead the NFL's Eastern Division after a frustrating 5-9 finish last year.

In their four starts, the Cards have outscored their opponents 77-10 after intermission.

They had been outplayed by the Eagles in the first half Sunday but led 17-10 —thanks to an 86-yard punt return by rookie Johnny Roland.

Then Larry Wilson intercepted a pass and raced 91 yards for a touchdown, Jerry Stovall ran 18 yards to score with another pass theft, Charlie Johnson hit Billy Gambrell with a 12-yard scoring pitch and Jim Bakken kicked a 34-yard field goal as St. Louis turned the game into a rout.

Sunday's victory kept St. Louis one-half game in front of the Dallas Cowboys, who overpowered winless Atlanta 47-14 for a 3-0 mark.

Bart Starr fired touchdown bombs of 53 and 78 yards as Green Bay's Western Division leaders downed Detroit 23-14 for their fourth straight victory while Chicago edged Minnesota 13-10, Cleveland drubbed New York 28-7 and Washington topped Pittsburgh 24-10.

Los Angeles had whipped San Francisco 34-3 in a Friday night game.

The Cowboys, ahead only 17-14 in the third quarter, pulled away on Don Meredith's 49-yard touchdown pass to speedster Bob Hayes and linebacker Chuck Howley's 57-yard scoring jaunt with a recovered fumble.

Starr hit Marv Fleming with a short pass over the middle and the Packers' tight end rambled 45 yards to complete the 53-yard scoring play. Starr then connected with Carroll Dale for a 78-yard payoff that boosted the Packers' first half margin to 17-0. Three field goals by Don Chandler completed the Green Bay scoring and the NFL kings held off a Detroit comeback.

Rudy Bukich's 19-yard touchdown pass to Mike Ditka with 2½ minutes to play capped a 45-yard drive that lifted the Bears past Minnesota for their first victory in three starts.

Leroy Kelly led the Browns to their runaway victory over New York, smashing 138 yards on the ground, scoring one touchdown and setting up another.

Sonny Jurgensen teamed with Bobby Mitchell on touchdown strikes covering 70 and 51 yards and hit Charley Taylor with a 60-yard TD bomb as the Redskins romped to their second victory over the Steelers in two weeks.

Robinson Wins Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) -- Frank Robinson clinched baseball's first triple crown in 10 years Sunday as the regular season ended.

Baltimore's slugging outfielder won the American League batting title with a .316 average, nine points better than Minnesota's Tony Oliva, who had won the championship in 1964 and 1965.

Robinson also led the league in runs batted in with 122 and in home runs with 49. His 121 runs also led that department.

In the National League, Matty Alou of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the batting title with a .342 average, 25 points better than his brother, Felipe, who plays for the Atlanta Braves.

Hank Aaron of Atlanta led in both home runs with 44 and runs batted in with 127 but batted only .279.

Felipe Alou also led the NL in hits with 218 and runs with 122.

Based on 15 decisions, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Phil Regan finished with the top pitching percentage. Regan, a relief specialist was 14-1 for .933. In the American League, Minnesota's Dave Boswell with 12-5 for .706 had the top percentage.

The top winner was Sandy Koufax' total was the most won by any pitcher since Don Newcome of the Dodgers won 27 in 1956. The last pitcher to top that total was Robin Roberts, who won 28 for the 1952 Philadelphia Phillies.

Mayo Smith Named Tiger Manager

DETROIT (AP) - Mayo Smith, a scout for the New York Yankees and a former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds, today was named manager of the Detroit Tigers baseball team in the American League.

The announcement was made by James Capbell, Tigers general manager, at a news conference.

It ended weeks of speculation over a successor to the late Charlie Dressen.

Dressen died in August following a heart attack as his second-place Tigers were making a bid for the American League pennant.

Bob Swift, a coach, had been acting manager for several weeks before Dressen's death but was sidelined with lung cancer.

The team finished its season Sunday in third place, 10 games back of Baltimore with another coach, Frank Skaff at the helm.

Smith was given a two-year contract. His salary was not disclosed but it was reported to be in the $25,000-$30,000 a year bracket.

A native of New London, Mo., the 51-year-old Smith played almost 20 years of minor league ball. His only season in the majors was 1945 when he hit .212 in 73 games with the old Philadelphia Athletics.

PITCHING - Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, won his 27th game of the season and clinched the pennant for Los Angeles on just two days' rest by pitching the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

BATTING - Frank Robinson, Orioles, wrapped up the triple crown becoming only the 10th player to win the batting, runs batted in and home championships in the same season, as Baltimore split a doubleheader with Minnesota, winning 6-2 and losing 1-0.

BALTIMORE AP - Some 7,500 persons were lined up outside Memorial Stadium Sunday night, waiting to buy 6,000 obstructed - view tickets this morning for the World Series.

Three high school students from Towson, Md., were first in line. They took their places at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

Cape State Edged By Austin Peay 28-27

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Austin Peay edged past the host SEMO State Indians Saturday night 28-27 on a touchdown by John Ogles and an extra point by Ron Parson with 2:56 minutes left in the game.

Two Cape mistakes cost the Indians the game. Late in the final period a Indian drive was halted at their own 49-yard line and were back to punt. A bad pass from center that cost the Indians 20 yards set up the TD as Austin brought down a Cape player on the 29.

On the first play after the bad pass from center the Indians were called for pass interference and the ball was placed on the eight yard line from where Ogles went over.

The Indians charged into a 13-0 lead in the first period on a TD by Gregg Brune from the one yard line with 8:59 left in the period, the extra point attempt was no good.

With 6:15 left in the first quarter Chuck Koerner hauled in a 79 yard pass from Brune for the score and Bruce Nall converted on the extra point.

Austin opened the second period with a 13 yard pass from Carl Williams to Andy Ballinger for a TD. Ron Parson attempted the extra point but failed.

With 9:05 left in the first half Carl Williams went over from the five and threw a pass to Parson for a two point conversion and a 14-13 lead.

The Indians went ahead with 4:31 left in the half on a seven yard run by Walt Smallwood and a conversion by Nall.

Cape held a 20-14 halftime edge and came out after the break to score on a 20 yard run by Smallwood and an extra point by Nall. Austin failed to score in the third period and the Indians held a 27-14 lead going into the final period.

Austin's defense held the Indians offense and scored two TD's in the final period for the victory.

Parson scored with 8:04 left in the final period on a 38 yard pass from Williams and kicked the extra point.

The final score came with 2:56 left after two Indian mistakes. State died with 2:06 left on 4-15 situation on their own 19 as they were forced to punt.

Chuck Koerner collected 128 yards pass receiving and is well ahead of the leader of last year at this time.

Walt Smallwood carried the ball 22 times for 164 yards and is leading the Indians rushing attack.

Ogles carried the ball 18 times for Austin and collected 79 yards while teammate Parson had the ball five times and carried for 124 yards.

A MODERN ELECTRONIC ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS IS LIKE A DOCTOR'S X-RAY

When you go to your Doctor for a checkup, he usually insists on an X-ray, to determine the exact condition of the vital organs that control body processes.
An electronic diagnosis of your engine and its electrical system is like an X-ray in that it determines the exact condition of each part and component that controls car performance.
Many vital engine parts are out of sight. It is impossible, for example, to see the action of the distributor points under actual working conditions. However, with our modern Rotunda Electronic Diagnosis Equipment, the exact condition of all such hidden parts is clearly indicated on the oscilloscope screen. Nothing is left to guesswork--nothing is overlooked.
Let our trained diagnosis technicians give you a complete report on every phase of your engine's performance. It will pay big dividends in helping you to avoid future trouble.

Dodgers Take NL Pennant, Series Starts Wednesday

By MURRAY CHASS

For Sandy Koufax and the Los Angeles Dodgers it was all downhill after the sixth inning. For the San Francisco Giants it was all down the drain after the third.

As he did on the next-to-last day of the season last year, the amazing Koufac pitched the Dodgers to the National League pennant, their second straight, scattering seven hits in a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia Sunday.

"It was all downhill for me after the sixth," the 30-year-old left-hander said amid a wild Dodger celebration after bringing his record to 27 victories, most in his career, against nine defeats.

The Giants, though, felt their hopes for a first-place tie sink in the third inning when the Dodgers exploded for three runs. Like everyone else in baseball, they knew all too well that Koufax rarely, if ever, loses with that great a lead.

They sat around at the airport in Pittsburgh, though, hoping that a rarity would occur. They had defeated the Pirates 7-3 in 11 innings and another Dodger defeat, following a 4-3 loss in the opener of the doubleheader with the Phillies would have kept them alive.

To force a playoff, they then would have to beat Cincinnati Monnday in a make-up of a rained out game.

But when Koufax arrived at the bottom of the hill, the Giants started leaving for San Francisco instead of Cincinnati.

The Phillies tried to pull it out for the Giants, rallying for three runs in the ninth inning. But Koufax had been more concerned about the first inning when they put two men on with only one out.

"I would say the biggest pitch I had to make was to strike out Richie Allen in the first when I was in trouble," Koufax said.

After fanning Allen for the first of three times, Koufax retired Harvey Kuenn on a grounder, ending the threat.

Slightly more than two hours later, Koufax fanned Jack Brandt for his 10th strikeout, and the Dodgers had their sixth pennant in Walter Alston's 13-year reign.

They also had the distinction of being the first National League team since Milwaukee in 1957 - 68 to win two straight pennants.

"There may have been some greater pitchers before I came around, but this guy is the greatest I've ever witnessed."

The Dodgers erupted against Jim Bunning for three runs in the third inning of the clincher, two of the runs coming on Willie Davis' homer. They added single runs in the fourth on John Roseboro's sacrifice fly, in the eighth on Tony Taylor's error and in the ninth on Ron Fairly's single.

The fourth - place Phillies came from behind in the opener, scoring two runs in the ninth with the help of throwing errors by Bob Miller and Dick Schofield. The tying run scored on Schofield's miscue, and the winning tally crossed as Clay Dallrymple blooped a single to center.

Ozzie Virgil's two- out, run-scoring single pulled the Giants into a 3-3 tie in the ninth, and they lodged the Pirates in third place in the 11th when Willie McCovey hit a two - run homer and Tito Fuentes added a two-run double.

Drysdale or Claude Osteen will pitch the World Series opener for the Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday since Sandy Koufax had to go the route Sunday in the pennant clincher over the Phillies.

"It will be Drysdale or Osteen," Manager Walter Alston said Sunday night in the chaotic Dodger clubhouse before the club flew home to get ready for the Series with the Baltimore Orioles. "Sandy probably will go in the second game."

The Series opens Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Oriole Manager Hank Bauer said he would start left Dave McNally 13-6 in the opener and follow with Jim Palmer, 15-10.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the club right now," Bauer said, "and if the Series goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

It was Sandy the dandy, the 27-game winner, who saved the day for the Dodgers Sunday after they had lost the opener to the Phillies 4-3. San Francisco already has beaten Pittsburgh.

If the Dodgers had lost the second game, the Giants could have forced a tie playoff by beating Cincinnati in a special make-up of an early season rained out game Monday. Now that game will not be played.

Alston went out to talk to Koufax when he got into trouble in the ninth inning as the Phils closed the gap to 6-3. After all, Sandy had worked nine tough innings Thursday and was coming back with only two days rest.

"He told me not to reach back for too much," said Koufax as Tommy Davis poured a full bottle of champagne over his head.

"He thought I had been going to my fast ball too much and wanted me to throw more curves. It was downhill for me after the sixth inning."

Koufax said "something popped" in his back in the fifth but trainers Bill Buhler and Wayne Anderson "popped it back" before the sixth and applied some "hot stuff" to the back. It didn't bother him any more although the ace - lefthander said it "probably would be stiff Monday."

Alston and the Dodgers flew home after the game and will take today off.

Portageville And Chaffee Win, Poplar Bluff Jumps On Jackson for 48-14 Win

Three high school football games scheduled for Friday of last week were rained out and played Saturday night.

At Poplar Bluff the Mules had little mercy on the Jackson Indians. They scored 41 points the first half and went on to win 48-14.

The Mules played their entire squad in one of their biggest wins of the season.

Ed Moss opened the Mules scoring with a seven-yard run in the opening minutes of the game.

John Brown contributed a 11-yard TD midway in the first period and Ben Wyatt passed 16 yards to Steve Arant in the closing minutes for the last TD of the period.

John Piper scored twice in the second period on a six-yard run and a 65-yard gallop.

Linemen Shadrack Davis picked up an Indian fumble and ran for another Mule TD.

Ben Wyatt kicked five extra points and Bob Wyatt converted on one.

Jackson broke into the scoring column in the fourth period on two TDs by Leroy Moss.

At East Prairie the Portageville Bulldogs collected a 27-7 win over the Eagles.

The Dogs scored in the first quarter on a six-yard run by Perry Gooch, but the Eagles counteracted with a two yard run in the second period and went ahead 7-6 on Bruce Banks extra point and the TD.

Bill Allen scored on a one yard plunge for Portageville just before the half and held a 13-7 lead.

Both teams went scoreless in the third period, but Portageville broke the game open with a safety and two TDs in the fourth period. Gooch and Terry Freeland collected the Bulldogs final TDs.

In the other rained out game that was played Saturday night Chaffee defeated Scott City 20-6.

Cards Beat Eagles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The delayed take-off isn't part of Charlie Winner's game plan, but his St. Louis Cardinals are making the most of their 30-minute flights.

St. Louis struck for 24 points in the second half Sunday and continued its National Football League resurgence under new coach Winner with a 41-10 triumph over the Philadelphia Eagles.

It was the fourth victory without a loss for the Cards, who lead the NFL's Eastern Division after a frustrating 5-9 finish last year.

In their four starts, the Cards have outscored their opponents 77-10 after intermission.

They had been outplayed by the Eagles in the first half Sunday but led 17-10 —thanks to an 86-yard punt return by rookie Johnny Roland.

Then Larry Wilson intercepted a pass and raced 91 yards for a touchdown, Jerry Stovall ran 18 yards to score with another pass theft, Charlie Johnson hit Billy Gambrell with a 12-yard scoring pitch and Jim Bakken kicked a 34-yard field goal as St. Louis turned the game into a rout.

Sunday's victory kept St. Louis one-half game in front of the Dallas Cowboys, who overpowered winless Atlanta 47-14 for a 3-0 mark.

Bart Starr fired touchdown bombs of 53 and 78 yards as Green Bay's Western Division leaders downed Detroit 23-14 for their fourth straight victory while Chicago edged Minnesota 13-10, Cleveland drubbed New York 28-7 and Washington topped Pittsburgh 24-10.

Los Angeles had whipped San Francisco 34-3 in a Friday night game.

The Cowboys, ahead only 17-14 in the third quarter, pulled away on Don Meredith's 49-yard touchdown pass to speedster Bob Hayes and linebacker Chuck Howley's 57-yard scoring jaunt with a recovered fumble.

Starr hit Marv Fleming with a short pass over the middle and the Packers' tight end rambled 45 yards to complete the 53-yard scoring play. Starr then connected with Carroll Dale for a 78-yard payoff that boosted the Packers' first half margin to 17-0. Three field goals by Don Chandler completed the Green Bay scoring and the NFL kings held off a Detroit comeback.

Rudy Bukich's 19-yard touchdown pass to Mike Ditka with 2½ minutes to play capped a 45-yard drive that lifted the Bears past Minnesota for their first victory in three starts.

Leroy Kelly led the Browns to their runaway victory over New York, smashing 138 yards on the ground, scoring one touchdown and setting up another.

Sonny Jurgensen teamed with Bobby Mitchell on touchdown strikes covering 70 and 51 yards and hit Charley Taylor with a 60-yard TD bomb as the Redskins romped to their second victory over the Steelers in two weeks.

Robinson Wins Triple Crown

NEW YORK (AP) -- Frank Robinson clinched baseball's first triple crown in 10 years Sunday as the regular season ended.

Baltimore's slugging outfielder won the American League batting title with a .316 average, nine points better than Minnesota's Tony Oliva, who had won the championship in 1964 and 1965.

Robinson also led the league in runs batted in with 122 and in home runs with 49. His 121 runs also led that department.

In the National League, Matty Alou of the Pittsburgh Pirates won the batting title with a .342 average, 25 points better than his brother, Felipe, who plays for the Atlanta Braves.

Hank Aaron of Atlanta led in both home runs with 44 and runs batted in with 127 but batted only .279.

Felipe Alou also led the NL in hits with 218 and runs with 122.

Based on 15 decisions, the Los Angeles Dodgers' Phil Regan finished with the top pitching percentage. Regan, a relief specialist was 14-1 for .933. In the American League, Minnesota's Dave Boswell with 12-5 for .706 had the top percentage.

The top winner was Sandy Koufax' total was the most won by any pitcher since Don Newcome of the Dodgers won 27 in 1956. The last pitcher to top that total was Robin Roberts, who won 28 for the 1952 Philadelphia Phillies.

Mayo Smith Named Tiger Manager

DETROIT (AP) - Mayo Smith, a scout for the New York Yankees and a former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies and the Cincinnati Reds, today was named manager of the Detroit Tigers baseball team in the American League.

The announcement was made by James Capbell, Tigers general manager, at a news conference.

It ended weeks of speculation over a successor to the late Charlie Dressen.

Dressen died in August following a heart attack as his second-place Tigers were making a bid for the American League pennant.

Bob Swift, a coach, had been acting manager for several weeks before Dressen's death but was sidelined with lung cancer.

The team finished its season Sunday in third place, 10 games back of Baltimore with another coach, Frank Skaff at the helm.

Smith was given a two-year contract. His salary was not disclosed but it was reported to be in the $25,000-$30,000 a year bracket.

A native of New London, Mo., the 51-year-old Smith played almost 20 years of minor league ball. His only season in the majors was 1945 when he hit .212 in 73 games with the old Philadelphia Athletics.

PITCHING - Sandy Koufax, Dodgers, won his 27th game of the season and clinched the pennant for Los Angeles on just two days' rest by pitching the Dodgers to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

BATTING - Frank Robinson, Orioles, wrapped up the triple crown becoming only the 10th player to win the batting, runs batted in and home championships in the same season, as Baltimore split a doubleheader with Minnesota, winning 6-2 and losing 1-0.

BALTIMORE AP - Some 7,500 persons were lined up outside Memorial Stadium Sunday night, waiting to buy 6,000 obstructed - view tickets this morning for the World Series.

Three high school students from Towson, Md., were first in line. They took their places at 8:30 a.m. Sunday.

Cape State Edged By Austin Peay 28-27

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Austin Peay edged past the host SEMO State Indians Saturday night 28-27 on a touchdown by John Ogles and an extra point by Ron Parson with 2:56 minutes left in the game.

Two Cape mistakes cost the Indians the game. Late in the final period a Indian drive was halted at their own 49-yard line and were back to punt. A bad pass from center that cost the Indians 20 yards set up the TD as Austin brought down a Cape player on the 29.

On the first play after the bad pass from center the Indians were called for pass interference and the ball was placed on the eight yard line from where Ogles went over.

The Indians charged into a 13-0 lead in the first period on a TD by Gregg Brune from the one yard line with 8:59 left in the period, the extra point attempt was no good.

With 6:15 left in the first quarter Chuck Koerner hauled in a 79 yard pass from Brune for the score and Bruce Nall converted on the extra point.

Austin opened the second period with a 13 yard pass from Carl Williams to Andy Ballinger for a TD. Ron Parson attempted the extra point but failed.

With 9:05 left in the first half Carl Williams went over from the five and threw a pass to Parson for a two point conversion and a 14-13 lead.

The Indians went ahead with 4:31 left in the half on a seven yard run by Walt Smallwood and a conversion by Nall.

Cape held a 20-14 halftime edge and came out after the break to score on a 20 yard run by Smallwood and an extra point by Nall. Austin failed to score in the third period and the Indians held a 27-14 lead going into the final period.

Austin's defense held the Indians offense and scored two TD's in the final period for the victory.

Parson scored with 8:04 left in the final period on a 38 yard pass from Williams and kicked the extra point.

The final score came with 2:56 left after two Indian mistakes. State died with 2:06 left on 4-15 situation on their own 19 as they were forced to punt.

Chuck Koerner collected 128 yards pass receiving and is well ahead of the leader of last year at this time.

Walt Smallwood carried the ball 22 times for 164 yards and is leading the Indians rushing attack.

Ogles carried the ball 18 times for Austin and collected 79 yards while teammate Parson had the ball five times and carried for 124 yards.

A MODERN ELECTRONIC ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS IS LIKE A DOCTOR'S X-RAY

When you go to your Doctor for a checkup, he usually insists on an X-ray, to determine the exact condition of the vital organs that control body processes.
An electronic diagnosis of your engine and its electrical system is like an X-ray in that it determines the exact condition of each part and component that controls car performance.
Many vital engine parts are out of sight. It is impossible, for example, to see the action of the distributor points under actual working conditions. However, with our modern Rotunda Electronic Diagnosis Equipment, the exact condition of all such hidden parts is clearly indicated on the oscilloscope screen. Nothing is left to guesswork--nothing is overlooked.
Let our trained diagnosis technicians give you a complete report on every phase of your engine's performance. It will pay big dividends in helping you to avoid future trouble.

TIME FOR A CHECK-UP?
Come in for a COMPLETE ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS

If you're not getting top performance from your car's engine, now is the time to let our expert diagnosis technicians give you a report on the exact condition of your engine and its electrical system.

Dr. W. Merle Hill

Hill Will Take Helm At Christian

COLUMBIA - Dr. W. Merle Hill will be inaugerated president of Christian College, at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 19.

Dr. Hill is the 13th president of the two-year women's college since its founding in 1851 when Christian became the first women's college west of the Mississippi river to be chartered by a state legislature.

Donald Eldridge, president of Bennett College for women in Millbrook, N. Y., will speak at the American Association of Junior Colleges and a trustee of Wesleyan University.

Dr Hill has been at Christian College since 1963 when he was appointed dean of faculty. In July, 1965, he assumed the duties of president after the resignation of Dr. Kenneth Freeman, who is president of Metropolitan Junior College in Kansas City.

Dr. Hill came to Christian from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind., where he was a professor of German 1 2 years.

A 1950 graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, in German and French, Dr. Hill served for two years in the army. He received his master of arts degree in German literature from the University of Cincinnati in 1952 and his doctor of philosophy and psychology from Purdue in 1961.

During the 1961-62 academic year Dr. Hill taught at a secondary school in Braunschweig, Germany, on a Fulbright scholarship. He delivered nearly 50 lectures on American life and education to professional and lay groups.

Dr. Hill was commanding officer of an army reserve military intelligence German interrogation team from 1953-58, and section chief of a prisoner of war Russian interrogation team from 1958-63.

He is a member of the Modern Languages association, The American Association of Teachers of German, the American Association of University Professors, National Education Association, the Missouri Teachers Association, Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Phi Alpha. He is also on the National Advisory Committee for the International Exchange of Teachers.

In Columbia he is a member of the board of directors of the Columbia United Fund, Inc., and the Kiwanis club. He and his family are members of the First Christian church.

Dr. and Mrs. Hill, the former Dorotha Rowe of Oberlin, Ohio, and an alumna of Christian College, have a son Lee, 15. They live at 403 Christian College Ave.

OZARK AIR LINES REPORTS ALL-TIME HIGH INCOME

Continuing a trend of several months, Ozark Air Lines has reported a record net income for August, setting a monthly all-time high for the company since it was formed in 1950, according to Thomas L. Grace, president.

At the same time the company has shown a tremendous growth record during 1966 to date, compared to last year, heading the young airline toward its greatest year yet, he added.

August's net income was $193,704.00, better than a 70 per cent improvement over July, also a record-breaking month. July's income was $111,549.00.

The month's net income for August compares to $84,619.00 for the same month last year. This figures to an outyear. This figures to an outstanding increase of 124 per cent over the previous year's operation, Mr. Grace said.

Operating revenues also showed continued improvement, increasing 31 per cent over the same period of 1965 and reaching an all-time monthly high of $2,891,134.00.

Net income for the eight months ended August 31, 1966, amounted to $386,629.00, as compared to $296,914.00 for the same period last year. This is a 30 per cent increase over the previous year, and another record for the period, Mr. Grace concluded.

To the Editor:

Wouldn't it be wonderful if suddenly our every need was provided without our having to work; or would it?

Idleness is the devil's own tool. It warps the mind and deteriorates the body. Witness the man who has worked hard all his life only to die shortly after retirement due to inactivity.

We, as part of our "Great Society," are guilty of promoting idleness among our unemployed with our so-called unemployment insurance; a more accurate description would be "insured unemployment." We dole out millions of dollars to the unemployed for merely showing up each week to collect. At the same time our parks, streets and other public facilities are inadequately maintained due to a shortage of money and help. Why not utilize this work force to supplement our understaffed public works force; or is work a dirty word?

If these people were required to work for the money, many of them would suddenly find jobs that previously had been unavailable. This would leave more money to support those in need and who are willing to earn it. Many jobs today go unfilled because the employer cannot compete with this give-away program he is required to support.

To the Editor:

Once again we fall through the holes in the "Grate Society." The Vice President asks the steel unions not to make inflationary wage demands the same day the President is happily signing a new minimum wage bill.

Now millions of Americans, whose efforts were not even worth $1.25 in our highly inflated dollars, will get a pay boost of over 10 per cent, and this for no increase in productivity.

Are our uneconomical economists so naive that they think the people presently getting more than $1.40 per hour won't now insist on a like boost?

The ones ultimately hurt are again those who saved and planned for their own retirement, and did not leave their future to "Big Brother."

Editor Blanton:

Penalizing one to promote others. --One alderman told me I was too hard on competition. Another told he was going to put me out of business. I had no fear of him but I under-estimated him. He began by intimidating my help, telling his wife and others he was going to put me out, then organizing the "boys", he called them. Harassing the other alderman, the mayor, and others until the council gave the order to force me to move my pumps off my own property.

Attorneys tell me there is nothing I can do but comply with the order - so I comply! Before this action of forcing me to comply was taken, I was enjoying a monthly increase in sales - a normal steady healthy growth. Since this action, I have suffered a steady loss of business of $500 to $800 weekly.

Imagine you having to readjust to a threat and order telling you either move those pumps 17 ft. from your property line or having your drive barricaded.

Naturally this is several thousand dollars in four months. I have had to comply some $14,000 to be exact, counting the average increase per month which was lost. Is this justice? Is this discrimination? Is there no justice in a council decision? Must I comply?

Let others hear from you concerning such a move by your aldermen and mayor.

I was told by an alderman that Mr. Miller was the Boss. Mr. Miller, when I asked him for a complaint or order, said he didn't need any complaint nor order, but if I did not comply with his request he would barricade my drive.

Yours truly,
Tom Sims

Weaver Critical of Education Support

COLUMBIA -- University of Missouri President John C. Weaver took a look at current levels of Missouri support for education in a speech Friday and declared, "We should be ashamed of ourselves."

The President delivered the keynote speech at the Governor's Conference on Education, called by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes. It was his first public address since assuming the University presidency Sept. 1.

Reviewing Missouri's present educational efforts, Dr. Weaver said:

"Our per capita expenditure through state and local governments combined ranks us 42nd; Missourians are spending less of their income for public education than taxpayers in any of the 50 states save one; Missouri ranks 39th among states in the median number of years that adult citizens have completed in school; Missouri ranks with the bottom quarter of states in kindergarten facilities; Missouri was short 1,600 qualified teachers as school opened this fall, and as an emergency measure uncertified personnel have been permitted in classrooms."

Noting that Missouri is one of the wealthy states of the Union, Dr. Weaver drew a sharp contrast between the state's performance in education today and its early-day zeal for learning.

"From prairie days our people have held a conviction of indispensibility about learning," he said. "Almost before men built homes and churches, they built schools and universities."

Now in a mechanical age when automation threatens to replace not only the hands but the minds of men, he continued, Missouri is not backing its belief in education to unlock potentials of intellect at new levels of capacity and insight.

President Weaver pictured the state's educational needs against the backdrop of a revolution now under way in cybernetics, automation, and the computer sciences. In the face of these developments, he continued, it is education's pressing and primary mission to discipline and stimulate human minds to heights of imaginative and unique capability significantly beyond the creative potentials of the machine.

He defined "cybernetics" as the comparative study of the automatic control system formed by the nervous system and brain and by mechanoelectrial communication systems and devices such as computing machines, thermostats, and photo-electric sorters. "It is cybernetic understanding that provides the basis for automation," he said.

"The truth of the 20th century is that machines can, and will increasingly, reduce not only the hands, but the minds of men to useless or trivial instruments unless we can tend effectively to the business of unlocking the potentials of intellect at new levels of capacity and insight," he continued.

"Already systems analysis has placed the obdurate stamp of obsolescence on many a human hand and mind."

The president asked his audience, if when they were in school, did anyone suggest learning Einstein's theory of relativity or suggest that it might be of any significance in their life.

"Well, the children and young people around us are going to have to know its importance, whether you and I can catch up with them or not," he said.

"For some mighty cogent and urgent reasons, science -- technology, cybernation -- compels education to divest itself of many a long-attached barnacle of routine method and objective; to raise sights to new levels of the intellectual achievement; to commit ourselves to attainment of new and more advanced outposts all along the frontiers of the mind."

Cyberneticians are going to establish a relationship with their machines that cannot be shared with the average man, he said. The "average man" had better be able to think, to dream, to imagine, to make value judgments, to assay the validity of the society and its trends and goals of which he is inevitably and altogether a part.

"For this fundamental reason, I contend that not only must we educate the oncoming generations to think, to think imaginatively, but we must not fall prey to the notion that science education is in itself the single highroad to salvation in a technologic age.

"In spite of the glamor and compelling preoccupations of 20th century science and technology, we must not fail to provide the man of tomorrow with those balancing social and humanistic perceptions that are our priceless and indispensable heritage from all man's former years," he said.

Dr. Weaver reiterated that the most precious natural resource, the resource on which our very survival rests, is brainpower. The Communist world is defying us to maintain our long-standing belief that we must educate our people to the absolute limits of their individual abilities, one by one, he said.

Dr. Weaver noted that although he is a newcomer with limited acquaintance in the state, "one doesn't have to go very far in coming to Missouri to find that the state has been something less than dedicated to, something short of being willing to make real sacrifice for, the general cause of education.

"Indeed, our state's performance in the support of this vital endeavor is not one we can take pride in," he said. "To what should be our profound embarrassment, and to what certainly is our detriment, the record can be and is read across the nation.

"I've already learned from just a few weeks on these grounds that no citizen of this state is satisfied to have our Missouri Tigers come in second to anyone in Big Eight football.

"Given the facts, are citizens of this state really content to go on ranking last among the Big Eight states in their individual tax contributions to the educational objectives of their state university?" he asked.

Dr. W. Merle Hill

Hill Will Take Helm At Christian

COLUMBIA - Dr. W. Merle Hill will be inaugerated president of Christian College, at 2:30 p.m. Oct. 19.

Dr. Hill is the 13th president of the two-year women's college since its founding in 1851 when Christian became the first women's college west of the Mississippi river to be chartered by a state legislature.

Donald Eldridge, president of Bennett College for women in Millbrook, N. Y., will speak at the American Association of Junior Colleges and a trustee of Wesleyan University.

Dr. Hill has been at Christian College since 1963 when he was appointed dean of faculty. In July, 1965, he assumed the duties of president after the resignation of Dr. Kenneth Freeman, who is president of Metropolitan Junior College in Kansas City.

Dr. Hill came to Christian from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind., where he was a professor of German 1 2 years.

A 1950 graduate of Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, in German and French, Dr. Hill served for two years in the army. He received his master of arts degree in German literature from the University of Cincinnati in 1952 and his doctor of philosophy and psychology from Purdue in 1961.

During the 1961-62 academic year Dr. Hill taught at a secondary school in Braunschweig, Germany, on a Fulbright scholarship. He delivered nearly 50 lectures on American life and education to professional and lay groups.

Dr. Hill was commanding officer of an army reserve military intelligence German interrogation team from 1953-58, and section chief of a prisoner of war Russian interrogation team from 1958-63.

He is a member of the Modern Languages association, The American Association of Teachers of German, the American Association of University Professors, National Education Association, the Missouri Teachers Association, Kappa Delta Pi and Delta Phi Alpha. He is also on the National Advisory Committee for the International Exchange of Teachers.

In Columbia he is a member of the board of directors of the Columbia United Fund, Inc., and the Kiwanis club. He and his family are members of the First Christian church.

Dr. and Mrs. Hill, the former Dorotha Rowe of Oberlin, Ohio, and an alumna of Christian College, have a son Lee, 15. They live at 403 Christian College Ave.

OZARK AIR LINES REPORTS ALL-TIME HIGH INCOME

Continuing a trend of several months, Ozark Air Lines has reported a record net income for August, setting a monthly all-time high for the company since it was formed in 1950, according to Thomas L. Grace, president.

At the same time the company has shown a tremendous growth record during 1966 to date, compared to last year, heading the young airline toward its greatest year yet, he added.

August's net income was $189,704.00, better than a 70 per cent improvement over July, also a record-breaking month. July's income was $111,549.00.

The month's net income for August compares to $84,619.-00 for the same month last year. This figures to an outyear. This figures to an outstanding increase of 124 per cent over the previous year's operation, Mr. Grace said.

Operating revenues also showed continued improvement, increasing 31 per cent over the same period of 1965 and reaching an all-time monthly high of $2,891,134.00.

Net income for the eight months ended August 31, 1966, amounted to $386,629.00, as compared to $296,914.00 for the same period last year. This is a 30 per cent increase over the previous year, and another record for the period, Mr. Grace concluded.

To the Editor:

Wouldn't it be wonderful if suddenly our every need was provided without our having to work; or would it?

Idleness is the devil's own tool. It warps the mind and deteriorates the body. Witness the man who has worked hard all his life only to die shortly after retirement due to inactivity.

We, as part of our "Great Society," are guilty of promoting idleness among our unemployed with our so-called unemployment insurance; a more accurate description would be "insured unemployment." We dole out millions of dollars to the unemployed for merely showing up each week to collect. At the same time our parks, streets and other public facilities are inadequately maintained due to a shortage of money and help. Why not utilize this work force to supplement our understaffed public works force; or is work a dirty word?

If these people were required to work for the money, many of them would suddenly find jobs that previously had been unavailable. This would leave more money to support those in need and who are willing to earn it. Many jobs today go unfilled because the employer cannot compete with this giveaway program he is required to support.

To the Editor:

Once again we fall through the holes in the "Grate Society." The Vice President asks the steel unions not to make inflationary wage demands the same day the President is happily signing a new minimum wage bill.

Now millions of Americans, whose efforts were not even worth $1.25 in our highly inflated dollars, will get a pay boost of over 10 per cent, and this for no increase in productivity.

Are our uneconomical economists so naive that they think the people presently getting more than $1.40 per hour won't now insist on a like boost?

The ones ultimately hurt are again those who saved and planned for their own retirement, and did not leave their future to "Big Brother."

Editor Blanton:

Penalizing one to promote others. --One alderman told me I was too hard on competition. Another told he was going to put me out of business. I had no fear of him but I under-estimated him. He began by intimidating my help, telling his wife and others he was going to put me out, then organizing the "boys", he called them. Harassing the other alderman, the mayor, and others until the council gave the order to force me to move my pumps off my own property.

Attorneys tell me there is nothing I can do but comply with the order - so I comply! Before this action of forcing me to comply was taken, I was enjoying a monthly increase in sales - a normal steady healthy growth. Since this action, I have suffered a steady loss of business of $500 to $800 weekly.

Imagine you having to readjust to a threat and order telling you either move those pumps 17 ft. from your property line or having your drive barricaded.

Naturally this is several thousand dollars in four months. I have had to comply some $14,000 to be exact, counting the average increase per month which was lost. Is this justice? Is this discrimination? Is there no justice in a council decision? Must I comply?

Let others hear from you concerning such a move by your aldermen and mayor.

I was told by an alderman that Mr. Miller was the Boss. Mr. Miller, when I asked him for a complaint or order, said he didn't need any complaint nor order, but if I did not comply with his request he would barricade my drive.

Yours truly,
Tom Sims

It is obvious from the disease reported in 1965 that physicans continue to be lax in their reporting of communicable diseases. If 19 cases of measles were reported, you can be sure there were at least 900 cases in the area. Many of them were never seen by a physician.

There was one case of typhoid fever in a truck driver with an out - of - the - state run. The source was never found, but his friends and neighbors were immunized.

In June, Scott County was fortunate enough to have an immunization nurse assigned here on a full - time basis. This is part of a nation - wide program now in progress to stamp out diseases preventable through the administration of specific immunizing agents.

Our Mrs. Sandra Burke reviewed birth certificates received by the Health Department, visited the parents of the new infants and explained the the importance of starting "shots" early. She also helped with any other public health problem the family may have had. She was accused of "shaking the bushes"; for many families that had never shown any interest in protecting their children by immunizations became regular customers of our established clinics. How did we ever get along without her?

Phone Firm to Extend Holdings

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The United Telephone system, the nation's third largest, will extend its operations into Texas early in 1967 with the acquisition of Gulf States Telephone Co., a joint announcement by the two organizations said today.

The agreement between the corporations provides for transfer of assets and liabilities of Gulf States to Gulf States - United Telephone Co., a United Utilities subsidiary to be organized under the laws of Texas in exchange for transfer by United to Gulf States of 926,478 shares of United common stock. Based on present quotations for United shares this will equal approximately $20.25 million.

United Utilities, a holding company for United's operating companies, operates telephones in 17 states from coast to coast and is exceeded in size only by the Bell System and the General Telephone system.

With the addition of the Texas properties to United's group this system will serve more than 1.3 million telephones.

The agreement between United and Gulf States is subject to receipt of a satisfactory tax ruling and approval by the Federal Communications Commission, the joint announcement by Paul H. Henson and John F. Merrick, presidents of United and Gulf States, respectively.

Gulf States serves over 50,000 telephones in 48 exchanges in Texas, 43 of them in central and east Texas including Dallas and Fort Worth suburbs, and five near Houston.

BOSTON (AP) — After successful treatment with a fertility hormone, Sandra Cwikielnik was told she might have "twins or more," but scarcely expected septuplets.

The seven babies —four girls and three boys — were born Saturday four months premature, but one was dead at birth and the others died shortly afterward.

Mrs. Cwikielnik, 24 years old today, and her husband, William, 30, a shipper for a clothing firm, have one child, William Jr., 3.

Mrs. Cwikielnik is the first American woman known to have given birth to septuplets.

The hormone preparation she received is the same one linked with the birth of stillborn sextuplets and septuplets in Sweden last year, and with quintuplets born in August 1965 to a woman in New Zealand and to another in Sweden.

Dr. Nuran Turksoy of New England Medical Center Hospital, one of a limited number of American researchers allowed to use the hormone, treated Mrs. Cwikielnik.

One of the principal goals of researchers testing the drug is to establish standards for effective dose levels that will be effective without overstimulating a woman's ovaries and thus lead to multiple births.

Mrs. Cwikielnik was reported resting comfortably today at St. Margaret's Hospital.

Hospital officials said the seven babies were normal and well formed for the five-month period, but died due to the immaturity of their respiratory and reflex systems.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Missouri has enacted a very important new law affecting almost all business purchases of Insurance. This law will now permit a multiple line company to combine into ONE Insurance Policy, all business coverages for ONE premium. Similar to the Homeowners' concept substantial savings may now be available to businesses.

Our agency - established 22 years ago - is well qualified to explain in detail and to provide this new coverage - written with any one of our FIVE Multiple Line Insurance Companies who have been in our agency for many years. Before making any changes in your present business insurance, let us see you.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE CONTROL DISEASES REPORTED IN 1965

Gonorrhea 19; Measles 19; Syphilis 20, Early 9, Late 11; Tuberculosis 14, Primary 7, Adult type 7; Typhoid fever 1;

Admissions to service 5;

Conferences with private physicians 22;

Home visits to patients 60;

Office visits by patients 510;

Special Nursing services 206;

Total services given 998;

Time spent working on communicable disease, not including immunizations 423.5 hours.

IMMUNIZATIONS GIVEN IN 1965

Diphtheria - pertussis -- tetanus 627;

Diphtheria - tetanus 644;

Smallpox 397.

Typhoid fever, 1352;

Influenza 28;

Poliomyelitis - Salk 815;

Sabin - oral 74;

It is obvious from the disease reported in 1965 that physicans continue to be lax in their reporting of communicable diseases. If 19 cases of measles were reported, you can be sure there were at least 900 cases in the area. Many of them were never seen by a physician.

There was one case of typhoid fever in a truck driver with an out - of - the - state run. The source was never found, but his friends and neighbors were immunized.

In June, Scott County was fortunate enough to have an immunization nurse assigned here on a full - time basis. This is part of a nation - wide program now in progress to stamp out diseases preventable through the administration of specific immunizing agents.

Our Mrs. Sandra Burke reviewed birth certificates received by the Health Department, visited the parents of the new infants and explained the the importance of starting "shots" early. She also helped with any other public health problem the family may have had. She was accused of "shaking the bushes"; for many families that had never shown any interest in protecting their children by immunizations became regular customers of our established clinics. How did we ever get along without her?

Phone Firm to Extend Holdings

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The United Telephone system, the nation's third largest, will extend its operations into Texas early in 1967 with the acquisition of Gulf States Telephone Co., a joint announcement by the two organizations said today.

The agreement between the corporations provides for transfer of assets and liabilities of Gulf States to Gulf States - United Telephone Co., a United Utilities subsidiary to be organized under the laws of Texas in exchange for transfer by United to Gulf States of 926,478 shares of United common stock. Based on present quotations for United shares this will equal approximately $20.25 million.

United Utilities, a holding company for United's operating companies, operates telephones in 17 states from coast to coast and is exceeded in size only by the Bell System and the General Telephone system.

With the addition of the Texas properties to United's group this system will serve more than 1.3 million telephones.

The agreement between United and Gulf States is subject to receipt of a satisfactory tax ruling and approval by the Federal Communications Commission, the joint announcement by Paul H. Henson and John F. Merrick, presidents of United and Gulf States, respectively.

Gulf States serves over 50,000 telephones in 48 exchanges in Texas, 43 of them in central and east Texas including Dallas and Fort Worth suburbs, and five near Houston.

Husband of Sikeston Woman Pilots Ship

Capt. Arthur Wardwell

WASHINGTON -- The oceanographic floating laboratory, the USC&GS Ship Oceanographer, is scheduled to leave Jacksonville, Fla., today for an 11-week, 14,000 - mile scientific expedition to the South Atlantic.

The $9.2 million vessel, America's largest and most completely automatic oceanographic research ship, will conduct a wide range of marine scientific studies off the eastern coast of South America and participate in observations of a total eclipse of the sun Nov. 12.

Designated "Operation Eclipse," the trip will take the 303 - foot, 3,800-ton air conditioned vessel, which was commissioned in Washington July 13 by President Johnson, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and return to its Jacksonville base, Dec. 17. Commanding officer of the ship is Captain Arthur L. Wardwell, of Chittenden, Vt. He is married to the former Evelyn Sutton of Sikeston, Mo.

The scientific expedition is being conducted by the U. S. department of commerce's environmental science services administration. Participating ESSA agencies are the Institute for Oceanography, the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences & Aeronomy, the Weather Bureau, and the Coast and Geodetic Survey, which operates Essa's fleet of 14 ships.

Collaborating with Essa scientists will be scientists from the University of Illinois and the Smithsonian Institution. South America Scientists have also been invited to take an active part in the various phases of the expedition.

The objectives of the expedition are two - fold: to make a scientific observation of the total eclipse and to conduct research along the continental margins of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

It will seek evidence along the continental margin regarding a belief that the earth's continents were once part of one or two supercontinents which split aeons ago and have been drifting ever since. It has been estimated by some scientists that the continents drift each year one centimeter, not quite one-third of an inch. The expedition may throw light on the concept that South America and Africa were once part of a single continent. An exponent of the continental drift concept, Dr. Robert Dietz of the Institute for Oceanography, will participae in this phase of the research.

Coordinating the studies of the continental margin will be Louis W. Butler of the Institute for Oceanography. Butler, currently on leave at the University of Illinois, will be assisted by Paul B. Boyer and Peter J. Ealey of the university. Dr. Adrian F. Richards, also of the university, is acting as advisor to the group. These studies will be conducted along the coast from the Amazon River to the vicinity of Buenos Aires.

The studies will include a determination of the topography of the continental shelf and slope in this area and the nature of the ocean's subbottom. Measurements of the earth's magnetic and gravitational forces will be conducted as an aid to an understanding of the earth's crust and bottom samples will be obtained to determine further the nature of the sea floor.

Similar investigations will also be conducted south of Buenos Aires by Dr. Jack Pierce, Curator of Sedimentology of the Smithsonian Institution, and an associate, William Roberts, in the vicinities of Gulfo San Matias and Rio de la Plata.

After reaching Buenos Aires Nov. 6, the Oceanographer will prepare for the solar eclipse. The ship will be stationed directly in the path of the total eclipse, about 200 miles east of Buenos Aires and 150 miles off the Argentine coast. The total eclipse will last about two minutes.

Among those aboard to observe the eclipse will be Dr. Robert M. White, ESSA Administrator.

C. M. Purdy, Boulder, Colo., of the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences and Aeronomy, will be in charge of observations of the eclipse for ESSA, assisted by Jerry Smith. Observations of sodium dayglow emissions will be made throughout the partial and total eclipse at least 90 minutes before and after the total eclipse.

During the total eclipse, an effort will be made also to determine whether the ocean's deep scattering layer can be detected.

An air force homing beacon on the ship will enable the vessel to provide positioning for aircraft observing the eclipse.

Following the eclipse, the ship will resume its scientific marine studies enroute home.

"SEAT BELTS MAKE THE CRITICAL DIFFERENCE,"
says THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

This arrow represents the critical distance between life and death, health and injury.

When your car stops short in a collision—or even in a panic stop—your body shoots forward. Seat belts can save you by maintaining the critical distance between your head and the nearest obstruction: windshield, dash or back of the front seat.

The National Safety Council says that seat belts in every car, used at all times by driver and passengers, could save at least 5,000 lives a year, reduce serious auto injuries ⅓.

The use of seat belts is also endorsed by the American Medical Association, the U.S. Public Health Service and the American College of Surgeons. SEAT BELTS CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE! USE THEM.

Three Join Highway Unit

Those who have joined by district 10 of the Missouri state highway department are Donnie R. White, computer-draftsman, Patrick B. Bennett of Poplar Bluff, materials inspector, and Bob Williamson, district payroll clerk.

Tommy R. Vetter and Davis S. Lufcy have been granted military leaves.

Three maintenancemen have retired. They are Elmer V. Dutton and John W. Pruett, both of Dexter, and Walter H. Martin of Jackson.

Construction employees who have been promoted included Charles E. Norton to senior construction inspector and Jerry R. Hughes and Gerald L. Young to inspectors.

Resignations during September include Robert Hopkins, Thomas Kennedy, Refard Parks, Charles Sturgeon and William White.

John Watkins, construction inspector in the district 10 office, turned in one of the top performances in the men's state softball meet in Jefferson City during the Labor Day weekend, working 22 innings and allowing only two hits and no runs.

He hurled a one hitter against Jefferson City Pepsi and a no hitter against Joplin.

He was picked up by Barnes Store of Springfield to play in the Western regional and won one game against DeVille Motors of St. Louis, and played in the outfield the other three games hitting .857. Barnes qualified to participate in the World Softball Tournament at Indianapolis Sept. 16-24.

Sightseers Ruin Day for Bachelors

ESPARROS, France (AP) — The bachelor derby staged by the lonely males of Esparros brought a lot of attention to the village but little lasting sentiment.

Faced by a dismal shortage of eligible marriage partners, the bachelors of Esparros decided to hold an open house May 29. Single girls, widows and other unattached women were invited to look over the supply of marriage-hungry males—and to line up for inspection themselves.

When the day arrived, thousands of curious visitors flocked to Esparros and neighboring villages facing the same problem high in the Pyrenees.

The advance planning broke down. The bachelors were supposed to wear an armband. The interested girls were supposed to wear a numbered white boutonniere. In the picnicking crowds, few of the lonely heart signals were sighted.

Charles Duthu, mayor of Esparros, reports there has been a sign of romantic upturn, however. Two weeks ago he performed a marriage for Francis Pommerie and Elise Marcuillat —the first in Esparros in 10 years.

Unfortunately, Pommerie and his bride have no plans to live in Esparros. Pommerie is an army career man and is stationed in Dax.

64 Nominated For Homecoming Queen at M.U.

COLUMBIA -- Sixty-four candidates have been nominated by fellow students at the University of Missouri to compete for queen of the 1966 Homecoming Nov. 4-5. The theme of the Homecoming activities is "Buffalo Bonanza."

On Oct. 10, judges will select from this group of 25 semi-finalists, based on beauty, grooming, poise and intelligence. On Oct. 13, the judges will choose the seven finalists, from which University students will elect their Homecoming Queen Oct. 25. Announcement of the students selected will be made immediately after each judging, and the queen will be announced at a special celebration after the Oct. 25 elections.

Robert A. Cahn, Kansas City, a junior in the college of arts and science, is queen selection chairman. He will announce the names of the queen and her two attendants at 9 p.m. Oct. 25 in the Memorial Student Union auditorium. The winners will be escorted to their residences by Homecoming officials.

Judges will be: Mrs. Veta Adams, Columbia, assistant director of the University School of Home Economics; Mrs. A. B. Crowe, Columbia; Russ Chambers, owner of a Columbia music shop; and Robert Dallmeyer, Jr., Jefferson City, manager of the Dr. Pepper and 7-Up Bottling Co., district five representative on the University alumni board of directors.

Homecoming queen candidates, listed by state, county, hometown, along with the group they represent include:

B. J. Shull, Poplar Bluff, a junior in the School of Journalism representing Delta Gamma sorority.

Barbara Elaine Pattillo, 350 E. Grant, Dexter, a sophomore in the college of education majoring in elementary education representing Rochdale Co-operative.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Missouri

To be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at a general election

To be held on Tuesday, the Eighth day of November, 1966

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 1
(Submitted by the 73rd General Assembly)

Authorize St. Louis County and St. Louis City to adopt a plan for partial or complete government of all or any part of the county and city and provide the method of selecting a board of freeholders.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Submitting to the qualified voters of the state of Missouri an amendment repealing Section 30 (a) of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, relating to the City and County of St. Louis, and adopting one new section in lieu thereof relating to the same subject.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein:

That at the general election to be held in this state on the first Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, 1966, or at a special election to be called by the governor for that purpose, there shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this state for adoption or rejection, the following amendment to the constitution of the state of Missouri:

Section 1. The constitution of the state of Missouri is amended by repealing section 30 (a) of Article VI, and adopting one new section in lieu thereof to be known as section 30 (a), to read as follows:

Section 30 (a). The people of the city of St. Louis and the people of the county of St. Louis shall have power (1) to consolidate the territories and governments of the city and county into one political subdivision under the municipal government of the city of St. Louis; or, (2) to extend the territorial boundaries of the county so as to embrace the territory within the city and to reorganize and consolidate the county governments of the city and county, and adjust their relations as thus united, and thereafter the city may extend its limits in the manner provided by law for other cities; or, (3) to enlarge the present or future limits of the city by annexing thereto part of the territory of the county, and to confer upon the city exclusive jurisdiction of the territory so annexed to the city; or, (4) to establish a metropolitan district or districts for the functional administration of services common to the area included therein; or, (5) to formulate and adopt any other plan for the partial or complete government of all or any part of the city and the county. The power so given shall be exercised by the vote of the people of the city and county upon a plan prepared by a board of freeholders consisting of nineteen members, nine of whom shall be electors of the city and nine electors of the county and one an elector of some other county. Upon the filing with the officials in general charge of elections in the city of a petition proposing the exercise of the powers hereby granted, signed by registered voters of the city in such number as shall equal three per cent of the total vote cast in the city at the last general election for governor, and the certification thereof by the election officials to the mayor, and to the governor, then, within ten days after the certification the mayor shall, with the approval of a majority of the board of aldermen, appoint the city's nine members of the board, not more than five of whom shall be members of or affiliated with the same political party. Each member so appointed shall be given a certificate certifying his appointment signed by the mayor and attested by the seal of the city. Upon the filing with the officials in general charge of elections in the county of a similar petition signed by registered voters of the county, in such number as shall equal three per cent of the total vote cast in the county at the last general election for governor, and the certification thereof by the county election officials to the county supervisor of the county and to the governor, within ten days after the certification, the county supervisor shall, with the approval of a majority of the county council, appoint the county's nine members of the board, not more than five of whom shall be members of or affiliated with the same political party. Each member so appointed shall be given a certificate of his appointment signed by the county supervisor and attested by the seal of the county.

Husband of Sikeston Woman Pilots Ship

Capt. Arthur Wardwell

WASHINGTON -- The oceanographic floating laboratory, the USC&GS Ship Oceanographer, is scheduled to leave Jacksonville, Fla., today for an 11-week, 14,000 - mile scientific expedition to the South Atlantic.

The $9.2 million vessel, America's largest and most completely automatic oceanographic research ship, will conduct a wide range of marine scientific studies off the eastern coast of South America and participate in observations of a total eclipse of the sun Nov. 12.

Designated "Operation Eclipse," the trip will take the 303 - foot, 3,800-ton air conditioned vessel, which was commissioned in Washington July 13 by President Johnson, to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and return to its Jacksonville base, Dec. 17. Commanding officer of the ship is Captain Arthur L. Wardwell, of Chittenden, Vt. He is married to the former Evelyn Sutton of Sikeston, Mo.

The scientific expedition is being conducted by the U. S. department of commerce's environmental science services administration. Participating ESSA agencies are the Institute for Oceanography, the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences & Aeronomy, the Weather Bureau, and the Coast and Geodetic Survey, which operates Essa's fleet of 14 ships.

Collaborating with Essa scientists will be scientists from the University of Illinois and the Smithsonian Institution. South America Scientists have also been invited to take an active part in the various phases of the expedition.

The objectives of the expedition are two - fold: to make a scientific observation of the total eclipse and to conduct research along the continental margins of Brazil, Uruguay and Argentina.

It will seek evidence along the continental margin regarding a belief that the earth's continents were once part of one or two supercontinents which split aeons ago and have been drifting ever since. It has been estimated by some scientists that the continents drift each year one centimeter, not quite one-third of an inch. The expedition may throw light on the concept that South America and Africa were once part of a single continent. An exponent of the continental drift concept, Dr. Robert Dietz of the Institute for Oceanography, will participae in this phase of the research.

Coordinating the studies of the continental margin will be Louis W. Butler of the Institute for Oceanography. Butler, currently on leave at the University of Illinois, will be assisted by Paul B. Boyer and Peter J. Ealey of the university. Dr. Adrian F. Richards, also of the university, is acting as advisor to the group. These studies will be conducted along the coast from the Amazon River to the vicinity of Buenos Aires.

The studies will include a determination of the topography of the continental shelf and slope in this area and the nature of the ocean's subbottom. Measurements of the earth's magnetic and gravitational forces will be conducted as an aid to an understanding of the earth's crust and bottom samples will be obtained to determine further the nature of the sea floor.

Similar investigations will also be conducted south of Buenos Aires by Dr. Jack Pierce, Curator of Sedimentology of the Smithsonian Institution, and an associate, William Roberts, in the vicinities of Gulfo San Matias and Rio de la Plata.

After reaching Buenos Aires Nov. 6, the Oceanographer will prepare for the solar eclipse. The ship will be stationed directly in the path of the total eclipse, about 200 miles east of Buenos Aires and 150 miles off the Argentine coast. The total eclipse will last about two minutes.

Among those aboard to observe the eclipse will be Dr. Robert M. White, ESSA Administrator.

C. M. Purdy, Boulder, Colo., of the Institute for Telecommunication Sciences and Aeronomy, will be in charge of observations of the eclipse for ESSA, assisted by Jerry Smith. Observations of sodium dayglow emissions will be made throughout the partial and total eclipse at least 90 minutes before and after the total eclipse.

During the total eclipse, an effort will be made also to determine whether the ocean's deep scattering layer can be detected.

An air force homing beacon on the ship will enable the vessel to provide positioning for aircraft observing the eclipse.

Following the eclipse, the ship will resume its scientific marine studies enroute home.

"SEAT BELTS MAKE THE CRITICAL DIFFERENCE,"
says THE NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL

This arrow represents the critical distance between life and death, health and injury.

When your car stops short in a collision—or even in a panic stop—your body shoots forward. Seat belts can save you by maintaining the critical distance between your head and the nearest obstruction: windshield, dash or back of the front seat.

The National Safety Council says that seat belts in every car, used at all times by driver and passengers, could save at least 5,000 lives a year, reduce serious auto injuries ⅓.

The use of seat belts is also endorsed by the American Medical Association, the U.S. Public Health Service and the American College of Surgeons. SEAT BELTS CAN SAVE YOUR LIFE! USE THEM.

Three Join Highway Unit

Those who have joined by district 10 of the Missouri state highway department are Donnie R. White, computer-draftsman, Patrick B. Bennett of Poplar Bluff, materials inspector, and Bob Williamson, district payroll clerk.

Tommy R. Vetter and Davis S. Lufcy have been granted military leaves.

Three maintenancemen have retired. They are Elmer V. Dutton and John W. Pruett, both of Dexter, and Walter H. Martin of Jackson.

Construction employees who have been promoted included Charles E. Norton to senior construction inspector and Jerry R. Hughes and Gerald L. Young to inspectors.

Resignations during September include Robert Hopkins, Thomas Kennedy, Refard Parks, Charles Sturgeon and William White.

John Watkins, construction inspector in the district 10 office, turned in one of the top performances in the men's state softball meet in Jefferson City during the Labor Day weekend, working 22 innings and allowing only two hits and no runs.

He hurled a one hitter against Jefferson City Pepsi and a no hitter against Joplin.

He was picked up by Barnes Store of Springfield to play in the Western regional and won one game against DeVille Motors of St. Louis, and played in the outfield the other three games hitting .857. Barnes qualified to participate in the World Softball Tournament at Indianapolis Sept. 16-24.

Sightseers Ruin Day for Bachelors

ESPARROS, France (AP) — The bachelor derby staged by the lonely males of Esparros brought a lot of attention to the village but little lasting sentiment.

Faced by a dismal shortage of eligible marriage partners, the bachelors of Esparros decided to hold an open house May 29. Single girls, widows and other unattached women were invited to look over the supply of marriage-hungry males—and to line up for inspection themselves.

When the day arrived, thousands of curious visitors flocked to Esparros and neighboring villages facing the same problem high in the Pyrenees.

The advance planning broke down. The bachelors were supposed to wear an armband. The interested girls were supposed to wear a numbered white boutonniere. In the picnicking crowds, few of the lonely heart signals were sighted.

Charles Duthu, mayor of Esparros, reports there has been a sign of romantic upturn, however. Two weeks ago he performed a marriage for Francis Pommerie and Elise Marcuillat —the first in Esparros in 10 years.

Unfortunately, Pommerie and his bride have no plans to live in Esparros. Pommerie is an army career man and is stationed in Dax.

64 Nominated For Homecoming Queen at M.U.

COLUMBIA -- Sixty-four candidates have been nominated by fellow students at the University of Missouri to compete for queen of the 1966 Homecoming Nov. 4-5. The theme of the Homecoming activities is "Buffalo Bonanza."

On Oct. 10, judges will select from this group of 25 semi-finalists, based on beauty, grooming, poise and intelligence. On Oct. 13, the judges will choose the seven finalists, from which University students will elect their Homecoming Queen Oct. 25. Announcement of the students selected will be made immediately after each judging, and the queen will be announced at a special celebration after the Oct. 25 elections.

Robert A. Cahn, Kansas City, a junior in the college of arts and science, is queen selection chairman. He will announce the names of the queen and her two attendants at 9 p.m. Oct. 25 in the Memorial Student Union auditorium. The winners will be escorted to their residences by Homecoming officials.

Judges will be: Mrs. Veta Adams, Columbia, assistant director of the University School of Home Economics; Mrs. A. B. Crowe, Columbia; Russ Chambers, owner of a Columbia music shop; and Robert Dallmeyer, Jr., Jefferson City, manager of the Dr. Pepper and 7-Up Bottling Co., district five representative on the University alumni board of directors.

Homecoming queen candidates, listed by state, county, hometown, along with the group they represent include:

B. J. Shull, Poplar Bluff, a junior in the School of Journalism representing Delta Gamma sorority.

Barbara Elaine Pattillo, 350 E. Grant, Dexter, a sophomore in the college of education majoring in elementary education representing Rochdale Co-operative.

Proposed Amendment to the Constitution of Missouri

To be submitted to the qualified voters of the State of Missouri at a general election

To be held on Tuesday, the Eighth day of November, 1966

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NO. 1

(Submitted by the 73rd General Assembly)

Authorize St. Louis County and St. Louis City to adopt a plan for partial or complete government of all or any part of the county and city and provide the method of selecting a board of freeholders.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Submitting to the qualified voters of the state of Missouri an amendment repealing Section 30 (a) of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Missouri, relating to the City and County of St. Louis, and adopting one new section in lieu thereof relating to the same subject.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein:

That at the general election to be held in this state on the first Tuesday next following the first Monday in November, 1966, or at a special election to be called by the governor for that purpose, there shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this state for adoption or rejection, the following amendment to the constitution of the state of Missouri:

Section 1. The constitution of the state of Missouri is amended by repealing section 30 (a) of Article VI, and adopting one new section in lieu thereof to be known as section 30 (a), to read as follows:

Section 30 (a). The people of the city of St. Louis and the people of the county of St. Louis shall have power (1) to consolidate the territories and governments of the city and county into one political subdivision under the municipal government of the city of St. Louis; or, (2) to extend the territorial boundaries of the county so as to embrace the territory within the city and to reorganize and consolidate the county governments of the city and county, and adjust their relations as thus united, and thereafter the city may extend its limits in the manner provided by law for other cities; or, (3) to enlarge the present or future limits of the city by annexing thereto part of the territory of the county, and to confer upon the city exclusive jurisdiction of the territory so annexed to the city; or, (4) to establish a metropolitan district or districts for the functional administration of services common to the area included therein; or, (5) to formulate and adopt any other plan for the partial or complete government of all or any part of the city and the county. The power so given shall be exercised by the vote of the people of the city and county upon a plan prepared by a board of freeholders consisting of nineteen members, nine of whom shall be electors of the city and nine electors of the county and one an elector of some other county. Upon the filing with the officials in general charge of elections in the city of a petition proposing the exercise of the powers hereby granted, signed by registered voters of the city in such number as shall equal three per cent of the total vote cast in the city at the last general election for governor, and the certification thereof by the election officials to the mayor, and to the governor, then, within ten days after the certification the mayor shall, with the approval of a majority of the board of aldermen, appoint the city's nine members of the board, not more than five of whom shall be members of or affiliated with the same political party. Each member so appointed shall be given a certificate certifying his appointment signed by the mayor and attested by the seal of the city. Upon the filing with the officials in general charge of elections in the county of a similar petition signed by registered voters of the county, in such number as shall equal three per cent of the total vote cast in the county at the last general election for governor, and the certification thereof by the county election officials to the county supervisor of the county and to the governor, within ten days after the certification, the county supervisor shall, with the approval of a majority of the county council, appoint the county's nine members of the board, not more than five of whom shall be members of or affiliated with the same political party. Each member so appointed shall be given a certificate of his appointment signed by the county supervisor and attested by the seal of the county.

STATE OF MISSOURI
DEPARTMENT OF STATE } SS

I, JAMES C. KIRKPATRICK, Secretary of State of Missouri, hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and complete copy of House Joint Resolution No. 1 of the 73rd General Assembly of the State of Missouri, to be submitted to the voters of the State of Missouri at the General Election to be held on the Eighth day of November, 1966.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and affix the Great Seal of the State of Missouri. Done at City of Jefferson, 12th day of September, 1966.

The Prayer

For Today
From the Upper Room

Monday, October 3, 1966

The Lord our God is one Lord. (Deuteronomy 6:4)

PRAYER: O God, who has made us to live in this generation with its social and national differences, direct us and further us with Thy continual help. Teach us to live as one people with one witness, knowing about the one and only hope for the nations, Jesus Christ. In His name we ask. Amen.

Looking Back Over The Years

The guests were: Mary Ann Hayden, Armatha Ray, Laquita Branum, Shirley Elliott, Margaret Hill, Jo Ann Clack, Eddie Bates, Jerry Guess, Charles Bwaltney, jr., and Bobby Dean Crawford.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I heard you speak at a convention a few months ago. When you said you work 10 to 12 hours almost every day I gave my wife a nudge. She didn't believe it and neither did I.

Who do you think you are kidding? Half of your work is done by the goofs who write to you. Some of their letters don't even ask for advice. Often they merely comment on a letter that appeared previously and you say, "Thanks for writing" or "Why don't you take a long walk on a short dock?"

So how do you figure the 10 to 12 hours a day? How about an explanation -- if you can come up with one. -- MR. AND MRS. DOUBTING THOMAS

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Thomas: This question has been raised by others and I am going to try to answer it -- again.

If it were possible to "get" me for anything, I assure you I would have been "got" years ago. I would not have been in this work for 11 years, nor would mine be the most widely syndicated column in the world.

There is more to producing a column than grabbing a few letters out of the mail bag. I read thousands of letters in order to make an appropriate selection. Some days I read as many as 500 letters before I find one that is suitable for use in the column.

Almost every letter must be trimmed because people write too long, especially when they are distressed. Often the language must be laundered. The copy goes through my typewriter at least twice, usually three times. Then I sit at my editor's elbow as he slashes away. He frequently asks me to rewrite an answer, or he'll kill a letter simply because it's dull or because I've dealt with a similar problem recently.

So far all I've done is produce the column. But I keep eleven secretaries busy helping with personal replies to readers who send self-addressed, stamped envelopes. We direct thousands of people to physicians, lawyers, psychiatrists, and clergymen. We refer thousands more to service agencies.

This is my mission -- to help those who ask for it. Why thousands of people sit down and write to an advice columnist in the first place is an interesting question. But the fact is they do -- to the tune of approximately 1,000 letters a day.

We have a complete file of service agencies for every city in which this column appears. We send readers to Legal Aid, the Family Service Association, homes for unwed mothers, mental health clinics, Alcoholics Anonymous, the Y.M.C.A. -- the list is a long one. We mail huge numbers of booklets. We respond to hundreds of requests for speaking engagements. (Usually, Sorry No.) We send copies of my books to readers who are unable to get to a book store.

This work is immensely satisfying and it is enormously demanding. When I take a vacation or go on a lecture trip the columns are written in advance. There is never a box in the paper saying "Ann Landers is on vacation."

To maintain the quality I strive for 365 days a year and it is a backbreaking job, and there are no honest shortcuts. As Red Smith put it, "Writing a daily column is easy. All you have to do is sit at a typewriter until small drops of blood form on your forehead." Thank you for writing.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Draft Deferment Test Dates Set

WASHINGTON AP - The fall series of Selective Service college qualification tests will be given at more than 500 test centers on Nov. 18 and 19.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said posters announcing the tests are now on display in colleges, universities, post offices and public buildings.

Local draft boards throughout the 50 states, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia have application cards and information bulletins for registrants.

Any registrant may apply who is enrolled in college or is a high school senior or graduate and has not previously taken the test. A registrant takes the test only once. Selective Service said the test is intended to predict a student's ability to do college work.

All applications must be mailed to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., in a pre-addressed envelope obtainable from any draft board.

They must be postmarked no later than Oct. 21. Applications postmarked after that date will not be processed.

Scores will be forwarded by Educational Testing Service directly to the registrant's local board. Local boards may consider the result along with other data in the registrat's file in determining eligibility for occupational deferment as a student.

Armed Forces

GOLDSBORO, N. C.--Airman First Class Daniel O. Berry, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Stevens, reside at 507 Meatte Ave., Portageville, Mo., has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Senior Missileman Badge at Seymour Johnson AFB, N. C.

The Senior Missileman Badge designated by a star atop the current silver missileman insignia, is awarded after three years service on a combat ready crew.

Airman Berry is a member of a Strategic Air Command unit which helps keep the nation's intercontinental missiles and jet bombers on constant alert.

The airman, a 1959 graduate of Portageville High School, is married to the former Nancy K. Campbell.

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, ARK. 1 Oct. 66. . . There is a touch of sadness and nostalgia for some of the personnel attending this year's Strategic Air Command Combat Competition. For the first time since 1953 there is not a B-47 bomber unit participating.

Like earlier SAC bombers before, such as the B-29, B-36 and B-50, the B-47 is a victim of progress. The aircraft has been completely phased out of the SAC Bomber Force.

Thus the 1966 Competition will be limited to the B-58 "Hustler", a supersonic medium bomber, and the "Big Stick" of the command, the B-52 "Stratofortress." There are 35 B-52 wings participating and two B-58 wings. In addition, three Vulcan bombers of the Royal Air Force Bomber Command are also competing again this year.

Many of the old line B-47 crew members were retrained to fly and maintain the B-52 and other USAF aircraft. They all realize the B-47 had to go, but nevertheless regret the passing of this six-jet bomber which for many years was the backbone of the command. Like the B-36, the B-47 also lived and died without ever firing a shot in anger. But its mere presence in the arsenal of U.S. Forces, more than paid for the bombers in the deterrence they provided for the security of this country. Today many B-47's still fly in reconnaissance, weather and other missions but nevermore in the proud, fierce, competitive atmosphere of a SAC Combat Competition.

Q—Do sea turtles have teeth?

A—No turtle has teeth, whether it be a sea turtle or a tortoise or the fresh-water terrapin.

Q—How does a silk thread compare in strength with a steel wire of equal size?

A—It is two-thirds as strong.

"MEN-WOMEN"

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competiton is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE booklet on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once -- TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests. Don't delay -- ACT NOW!

The Lord our God is one Lord. (Deuteronomy 6:4)

PRAYER: O God, who has made us to live in this generation with its social and national differences, direct us and further us with Thy continual help. Teach us to live as one people with one witness, knowing about the one and only hope for the nations, Jesus Christ. In His name we ask. Amen.

Ann Landers
Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My wife and I heard you speak at a convention a few months ago. When you said you work 10 to 12 hours almost every day I gave my wife a nudge. She didn't believe it and neither did I.

Who do you think you are kidding? Half of your work is done by the goofs who write to you. Some of their letters don't even ask for advice. Often they merely comment on a letter that appeared previously and you say, "Thanks for writing" or "Why don't you take a long walk on a short dock?"

So how do you figure the 10 to 12 hours a day? How about an explanation -- if you can come up with one. -- MR. AND MRS. DOUBTING THOMAS

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Thomas: This question has been raised by others and I am going to try to answer it -- again.

If it were possible to "get" me for anything, I assure you I would have been "got" years ago. I would not have been in this work for 11 years, nor would mine be the most widely syndicated column in the world.

There is more to producing a column than grabbing a few letters out of the mail bag. I read thousands of letters in order to make an appropriate selection. Some days I read as many as 500 letters before I find one that is suitable for use in the column.

Almost every letter must be trimmed because people write too long, especially when they are distressed. Often the language must be laundered. The copy goes through my typewriter at least twice, usually three times. Then I sit at my editor's elbow as he slashes away. He frequently asks me to rewrite an answer, or he'll kill a letter simply because it's dull or because I've dealt with a similar problem recently.

So far all I've done is produce the column. But I keep eleven secretaries busy helping with personal replies to readers who send self-addressed, stamped envelopes. We direct thousands of people to physicians, lawyers, psychiatrists, and clergymen. We refer thousands more to service agencies.

This is my mission -- to help those who ask for it. Why thousands of people sit down and write to an advice columnist in the first place is an interesting question. But the fact is they do -- to the tune of approximately 1,000 letters a day.

We have a complete file of service agencies for every city in which this column appears. We send readers to Legal Aid, the Family Service Association, homes for unwed mothers, mental health clinics, Alcoholics Anonymous, the Y.M.C.A. -- the list is a long one. We mail huge numbers of booklets. We respond to hundreds of requests for speaking engagements. (Usually, Sorry No.) We send copies of my books to readers who are unable to get to a book store.

This work is immensely satisfying and it is enormously demanding. When I take a vacation or go on a lecture trip the columns are written in advance. There is never a box in the paper saying "Ann Landers is on vacation."

To maintain the quality I strive for 365 days a year and it is a backbreaking job, and there are no honest shortcuts. As Red Smith put it, "Writing a daily column is easy. All you have to do is sit at a typewriter until small drops of blood form on your forehead." Thank you for writing.

Awkward and self-conscious? Unsure of yourself? Write for Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Draft Deferment Test Dates Set

WASHINGTON AP - The fall series of Selective Service college qualification tests will be given at more than 500 test centers on Nov. 18 and 19.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said posters announcing the tests are now on display in colleges, universities, post offices and public buildings.

Local draft boards throughout the 50 states, the Canal Zone, the Virgin Islands, Guam, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia have application cards and information bulletins for registrants.

Any registrant may apply who is enrolled in college or is a high school senior or graduate and has not previously taken the test. A registrant takes the test only once. Selective Service said the test is intended to predict a student's ability to do college work.

All applications must be mailed to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, N.J., in a pre-addressed envelope obtainable from any draft board.

They must be postmarked no later than Oct. 21. Applications postmarked after that date will not be processed.

Scores will be forwarded by Educational Testing Service directly to the registrant's local board. Local boards may consider the result along with other data in the registrat's file in determining eligibility for occupational deferment as a student.

Armed Forces

GOLDSBORO, N. C.--Airman First Class Daniel O. Berry, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Stevens, reside at 507 Meatte Ave., Portageville, Mo., has been awarded the U.S. Air Force Senior Missileman Badge at Seymour Johnson AFB, N. C.

The Senior Missileman Badge designated by a star atop the current silver missileman insignia, is awarded after three years service on a combat ready crew.

Airman Berry is a member of a Strategic Air Command unit which helps keep the nation's intercontinental missiles and jet bombers on constant alert.

The airman, a 1959 graduate of Portageville High School, is married to the former Nancy K. Campbell.

BLYTHEVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, ARK. 1 Oct. 66. . . There is a touch of sadness and nostalgia for some of the personnel attending this year's Strategic Air Command Combat Competition. For the first time since 1953 there is not a B-47 bomber unit participating.

Like earlier SAC bombers before, such as the B-29, B-36 and B-50, the B-47 is a victim of progress. The aircraft has been completely phased out of the SAC Bomber Force.

Thus the 1966 Competition will be limited to the B-58 "Hustler", a supersonic medium bomber, and the "Big Stick" of the command, the B-52 "Stratofortress." There are 35 B-52 wings participating and two B-58 wings. In addition, three Vulcan bombers of the Royal Air Force Bomber Command are also competing again this year.

Many of the old line B-47 crew members were retrained to fly and maintain the B-52 and other USAF aircraft. They all realize the B-47 had to go, but nevertheless regret the passing of this six-jet bomber which for many years was the backbone of the command. Like the B-36, the B-47 also lived and died without ever firing a shot in anger. But its mere presence in the arsenal of U.S. Forces, more than paid for the bombers in the deterrence they provided for the security of this country. Today many B-47's still fly in reconnaissance, weather and other missions but nevermore in the proud, fierce, competitive atmosphere of a SAC Combat Competition.

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U.S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competiton is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

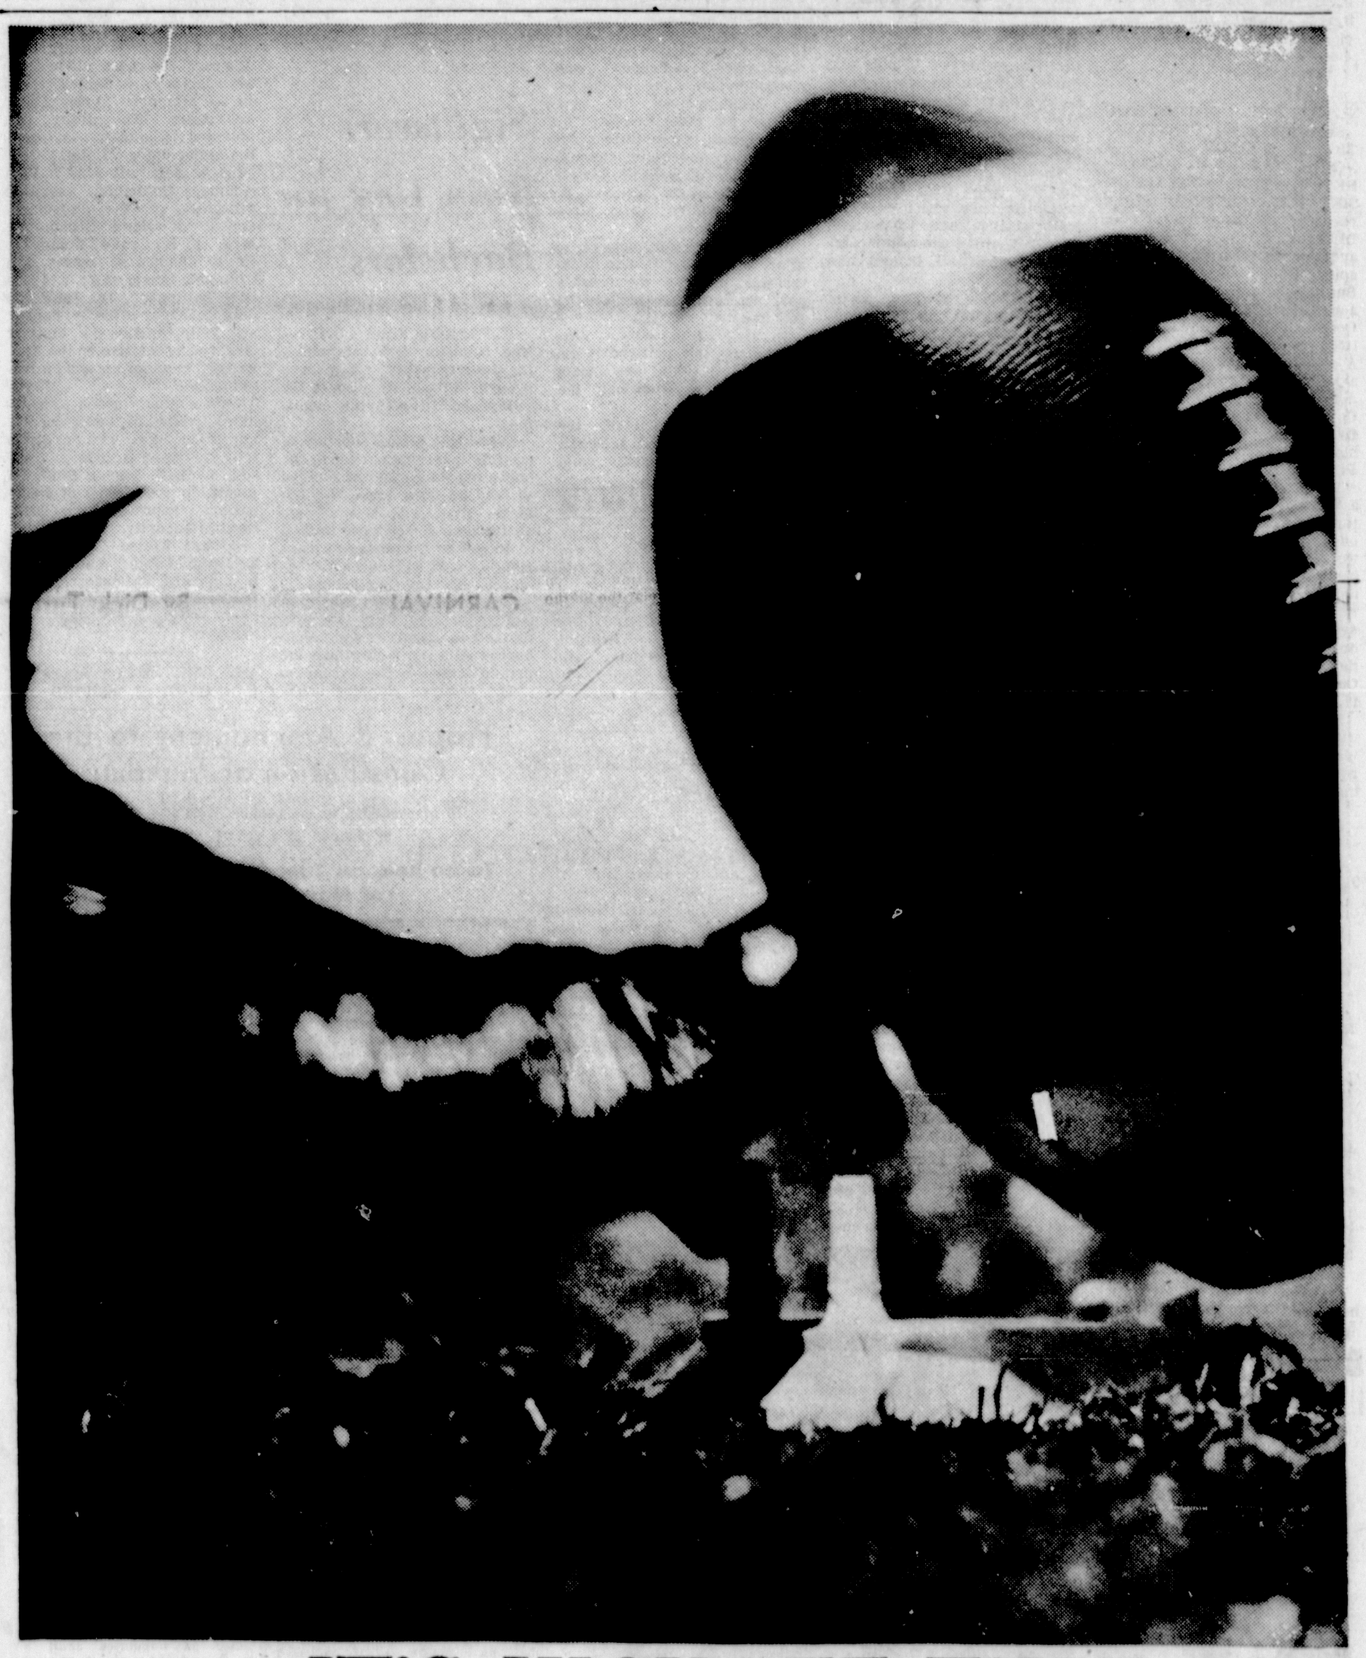

For FREE booklet on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once -- TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests. Don't delay -- ACT NOW!

Today In U. S. History

Today is Monday, Oct. 3, the 276th day of 1966. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, President George Washington proclaimed Nov. 26 a day of general thanksgiving. President Abraham Lincoln, on this day in 1863, declared Thanksgiving Day would be observed the last Thursday of November.

On this date:

In 1935, Italian forces began the invasion of Ethiopia.

In 1941, Nazi leader Adolf Hitler said: "Russia is already broken and will never rise again."

In 1944, American troops cracked the Siegfried Line north of Aachen in Germany.

Ten years ago — Israel announced it was boycotting the Israel - Jordan mixed armistice commission, this because Israel said the group had failed in its responsibilities to draw a distinction between attacker and attacked.

Five years ago—Ford Motor Co. workers throughout the nation went on strike in the first company-wide walkout during the firm's 20-years of dealings with the United Auto Workers Union. The strike was over non-economic issues such as production standards.

One year ago — President Johnson signed the immigration bill in a ceremony at the Statue of Liberty.

Firm Pleads Guilty To ICC Violations

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- A Van Buren sawmill concern pleaded guilty this morning to eight counts of Interstate Commerce Commission violations and was fined $100 on each count in United States district court.

The company is Beamer Handle Co., Inc., against whom 12 other counts were dismissed. The violations had to do mainly with record keeping in connection with interstate trucking of materials.

The case was one of three criminal matters taken up by Judge James H. Meredith.

Judge Meredith also set the docket for the fall term of the court, which opens Oct. 31.

In another ICC case, Fred B. Huey, by his attorney, Jim Ed Reeves of Caruthersville, pleaded innocent, and his trial was set for Nov. 7.

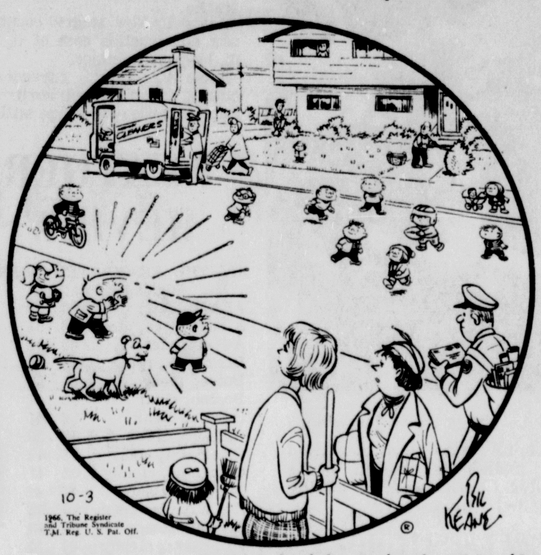

Taft Rattler of Poplar Bluff pleaded guilty to possessing distilled spirits without the revenue stamps, and Judge Meredith ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Sentencing was set for Nov. 7.

Poor Enjoy Capital Trip

KENNETT -- A delegation of poor people from Missouri's Bootheel have returned here happy with their journey to Washington and reported on their conferences with the state's two senators.

J. W. Brooks, a janitor at Kennett's First Methodist Church, said the trip was "a terrific experience for all of us." The group also included Jim Terrill, Mrs. Virgie Bullington, Mrs. Lonnie Ruth Beck and Mrs. Sarah Joe Littrell.

The five had met with Senator Edward W. Long (D., Mo.) and Senator Stuart Symington (D., Mo.). They were also to see Rep. Paul Jones (D., Mo.) but he was undergoing tests at Bethesda Naval Hospital and was unavailable.

"We went up there to tell them how much good the poverty program was doing down here," said Brooks. "Both the senators were very concerned about poor people, and they treated us with kindness.

Representing the program in no official capacity (their trip was paid for by the Delta pilot project, an experimental Episcopal program), the delegation originally had intended to join a Washington demonstration which was staged Tuesday to draw support for pending poverty appropriations in the House.

The march went on without the southeast Missourians, however. "It was raining, and our appointments with the senators allowed us no time to march," said Brooks. The appropriations bill passed in the House and was sent on for Senate approval.

Brooks said he was most impressed by Senator Symington's reaction to their visit. "You could just see it on his face and in the way he talked," said Brooks. "I know he will try to use what we told him about our program to help in any way he can."

Injunction Bars Pickets at MU

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) - Judge John Cave of Boone County Circuit Court today granted the University of Missouri a temporary injunction against Local 45 of the Public Service Employes union restraining the union from picketing the campus.

The union is seeking recognition by the university as bargaining agent for non-academic employes. The local claims to represent about 900 employes at the university.

University officials contend the state constitution forbids them from entering into collective bargaining with a labor union.

Members of the local voted to strike and picketed the campus Sept. 14, halting work on several construction projects. Later that day Judge Cave issued a restraining order directing the union to refrain from picketing pending a hearing on an injunction.

The temporary injunction issued today will continue in effect until a hearing is held on a permanent injunction. Judge Cave did not set a date for the hearing.

Police Report Six Arrests

Police reported six arrests Sunday. Two men were charged with assault and affray.

Robert C. Bonner, 354 Magnolia, was charged with assault and affray for striking R. J. Woods, 205 Felker at the Woods residence, police said.

Willie L. Green, 303 Alabama, was arrested Sunday and charged with assault and affray on Felker St.

Cleveland B. Turner, 112 Lincoln, was arrested Sunday and charged with parole violation.

Johnny J. Wilson, route four, Sikeston, was arrested Sunday on West Malone and charged with public intoxication.

Allen Biggs, Scott City, was arrested Sunday and charged with driving while intoxicated and operating a vehicle without an operator's license, police said.

Noble Banks, 1802 North, was arrested Sunday and charged with public intoxication on Luther St., police reported.

Passenger of Plane Killed

FREDERICKTOWN - Belton Dunagan, 46, Osceola, Ark., a passenger in a five-passenger Cessna plane, died as the result of a forced landing, at noon Sunday in the Madison County Memorial hospital.

The plane, piloted by Charles Richard Keenemore, 45, Osceola, Ark., owner of a small factory in Flat River, was flying north when the plane developed fuel pump trouble.

While trying a forced landing at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, the wing tip struck the ground, causing the plane to spin and catch fire.

Keenemore was burned before he was removed from the plane and taken to the Fredericktown hospital.

battery, would have a range of 150 miles at 40-miles-an-hour speed.

An artist's sketch of the proposed car looks like an abridged version of Ford's Econo-van.

The battery and the motor were installed under the floor on the driver's side of the vehicle.

Ford's first experimental car was to have an over-all length of about six feet and two starter motors for propulsion.

Designers of earlier electric cars have been stymied by the need to have several batteries in the car and winding up even then with a very short cruising range.

Ference said the proposed new car would have greater acceleration and range than current batteries would provide.

He said materials for the new battery — sodium, sulfur and alumina-soda — were inexpensive, plentiful and light in weight.

increase to all class wages of piece workers.

An 8-cent per hour increase is provided during the second year to all of the lowest class wage earners in the plant, and a 12 cent per hour increase is promised for all hourly workers, Bartholomew said.

Other provisions of the new contract provide for two days paid leave for death of an immediate relative, strengthening of the pension plan, and other fringe benefits.

Democratic Treasury To Feed on Dinners

JEFFERSON CITY -- The Democrats are going to try to raise sufficient campaign funds for the 1968 election through a series of dinners over the state, Delton L. Houtchens, state chairman, said this week.

The dinners will take the place of the old lug which Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has vetoed.

The committee has been largely financed through dinners, memberships and other small contributions the past two years.

Houtchens said he is hopeful that a series of dinners starting next year will put the Democrats in a position to start the 1968 campaigns with enough funds to handle routine costs.

People have responded well to the dinners when the costs are not too high.

Houtchens said he will make every effort to have good speakers at the dinners.

He said he does not yet know how many there will be but he hopes to have at least one in each congressional district.

A drive is underway now to raise funds for the 1966 election, Houtchens said.

"Many of our friends felt we could never finance the state committee without assessment of political employes," Houtchens said. "We have kept the committee going without a lug, however. We think we will be able to do so the next two years."

He said he felt that state employees have done well in contributions.

Unions Ask Teachers to Skip School

KANSAS CITY AP -- Two teacher organizations asked their members to skip school today to dramatize a plea for higher school taxes.

Kansas City's school superintendent, James A. Hazlett, has recommended that the school board ask for a tax increase of 55 cents, making the school and library tax total $3.90 per $100 valuation.

The teacher organizations insist the 55 cents would be entirely inadequate. They want a 98-cent boost.

The school board was scheduled to meet this afternoon to decide how much of a tax increase to submit to the voters in the Nov. 8 election.

The Kansas City Education Association and Local 691 of the American Federation of Teachers claimed 1,200 of the city's 3,500 teachers backed their stand.

The organizations contend the 98-cent hike is needed to pay adequate teacher salaries, reduce size of classes, eliminate overcrowding of schools and provide better learning conditions for children.

The school board indicated the teachers would not be paid if they missed school to attend meetings of the organizations today.

John Drake, executive secretary of the KCEA, said he didn't think a teachers' meeting during school hours would create ill will.

"There are lots of other groups that have had to withhold their services to accomplish their ends," Drake said. "There was no better time for us to hold it."

Passenger of Plane Killed

FREDERICKTOWN - Belton Dunagan, 46, Osceola, Ark., a passenger in a five-passenger Cessna plane, died as the result of a forced landing, at noon Sunday in the Madison County Memorial hospital.

The plane, piloted by Charles Richard Keenemore, 45, Osceola, Ark., owner of a small factory in Flat River, was flying north when the plane developed fuel pump trouble.

While trying a forced landing at 9:45 a.m. Sunday, the wing tip struck the ground, causing the plane to spin and catch fire.

Keenemore was burned before he was removed from the plane and taken to the Fredericktown hospital.

battery, would have a range of 150 miles at 40-miles-an-hour speed.

An artist's sketch of the proposed car looks like an abridged version of Ford's Econo-van. The battery and the motor were installed under the floor on the driver's side of the vehicle.

Ford's first experimental car was to have an over-all length of about six feet and two starter motors for propulsion.

Designers of earlier electric cars have been stymied by the need to have several batteries in the car and winding up even then with a very short cruising range.

Ference said the proposed new car would have greater acceleration and range than current batteries would provide.

He said materials for the new battery — sodium, sulfur and alumina-soda — were inexpensive, plentiful and light in weight.

increase to all class wages of piece workers.

An 8-cent per hour increase is provided during the second year to all of the lowest class wage earners in the plant, and a 12 cent per hour increase is promised for all hourly workers, Bartholomew said.

Other provisions of the new contract provide for two days paid leave for death of an immediate relative, strengthening of the pension plan, and other fringe benefits.

Democratic Treasury To Feed on Dinners

JEFFERSON CITY -- The Democrats are going to try to raise sufficient campaign funds for the 1968 election through a series of dinners over the state, Delton L. Houtchens, state chairman, said this week.

The dinners will take the place of the old lug which Gov. Warren E. Hearnes has vetoed.

The committee has been largely financed through dinners, memberships and other small contributions the past two years.

Houtchens said he is hopeful that a series of dinners starting next year will put the Democrats in a position to start the 1968 campaigns with enough funds to handle routine costs.

People have responded well to the dinners when the costs are not too high.

Houtchens said he will make every effort to have good speakers at the dinners.

He said he does not yet know how many there will be but he hopes to have at least one in each congressional district.

A drive is underway now to raise funds for the 1966 election, Houtchens said.

"Many of our friends felt we could never finance the state committee without assessment of political employes," Houtchens said. "We have kept the committee going without a lug, however. We think we will be able to do so the next two years."

He said he felt that state employees have done well in contributions.

Unions Ask Teachers to Skip School

KANSAS CITY AP -- Two teacher organizations asked their members to skip school today to dramatize a plea for higher school taxes.

Kansas City's school superintendent, James A. Hazlett, has recommended that the school board ask for a tax increase of 55 cents, making the school and library tax total $3.90 per $100 valuation.

The teacher organizations insist the 55 cents would be entirely inadequate. They want a 98-cent boost.

The school board was scheduled to meet this afternoon to decide how much of a tax increase to submit to the voters in the Nov. 8 election.

The Kansas City Education Association and Local 691 of the American Federation of Teachers claimed 1,200 of the city's 3,500 teachers backed their stand.

The organizations contend the 98-cent hike is needed to pay adequate teacher salaries, reduce size of classes, eliminate overcrowding of schools and provide better learning conditions for children.

The school board indicated the teachers would not be paid if they missed school to attend meetings of the organizations today.

John Drake, executive secretary of the KCEA, said he didn't think a teachers' meeting during school hours would create ill will.

"There are lots of other groups that have had to withhold their services to accomplish their ends," Drake said. "There was no better time for us to hold it."
